'Age of Bombers Over', Red Boss Khrushchev Warns U. S.

CRASH CAUSES $8,500 DAMAGES — A car driven by John Harter, 24, 14 Donner Ave., Monessen, collided with this trailer-truck loaded with steel coils on the Monessen-Webster Rd. this morning. The truck driver, Carl Spack, was taken to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital with multiple but not serious injuries. Both car and truck were demolished. Bill Buck, tower, views the truck damage.

Two Drivers Escape Death In $8,500 Crash Near Here

Two drivers miraculously escaped death or serious injury early this morning in a car-trailer truck crash on Monessen-Webster Rd., Route 906, state police reported.

The truck driver, Carl Spack, 33, Salem, Ohio, suffered injuries about the head, chest and ankles and is reported in "fair" condition in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

The other driver, John Harter, 24, of 14 Donner Ave., Monessen, received no apparent injuries, police said.

According to police, the truck, loaded with giant steel coils, was traveling north and the Harter machine south when the accident happened.

Skidded into Truck

Police said Harter saw the truck coming down the road and applied his brakes to slow down as a precautionary measure. However, the car skidded on the fog-moist road and swerved into the path of the oncoming truck.

The truck was knocked against the hillside and then overturned, pinning the driver in the cab and spilling the coils onto the road.

The driver was extricated two hours later.

The car tore loose several guard rails before coming to a stop.

The accident held up traffic nearly four hours on the busy highway. Detours were set up.

Damage was placed at $8,500. The vehicles were demolished.

Pickets Blamed For Damage at Newell Plant

Officials of the strike-bound plant of the General Chemical Co. at Newell today blamed pickets for the sinking of a barge and damaging of a nitric acid tank.

The 700-ton acid barge, valued at $50,000, sunk in the Monongahela River Saturday.

Frank Carroll, general superintendent of the plant, said the craft had been leaking and efforts of supervisory employes to pump water from compartments were prevented by pickets.

The nitric acid tank located near the plant was peppered by bullets fired from a hillside. There were 27 supervisory employes in the plant at the time.

The strikers, members of the United Mine Workers Local 12421, District 50, walked out three weeks ago to back demands for a wage increase.

The company will meet with a federal mediator and union representatives in Uniontown tomorrow in another settlement attempt.

Efforts to end the strike last Tuesday failed during a conference with a mediator.

Driver Arrested Here on Motor Violation Charges

George Clarence Croyts, 28, of R D. 2, Belle Vernon, was free on $500 bond today following his arrest last night on two motor violations charges, it was reported today.

He is charged with operating a vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and driving a car on a learner's permit without an accompanying licensed driver.

He was arrested when a police cruiser spotted him weaving in and out of traffic on Schoonmaker Ave. between Third and Fourth streets.

A local physician pronounced him under the influence.

He will be given a hearing before Alderman Manuel Monios.

Wreck Indirectly Results in Man Being Hit by Bus

A detour set up early this morning because of a traffic accident on Monessen-Webster Rd., Route 906, indirectly resulted in a Greyhound bus striking a pedestrian on Route 71 near Allen's Crossroads, state police stated.

The pedestrian, Joe Louis Howard, 19, Pricedale, was taken to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital with a possible skull fracture and cuts about the head, face and body. His condition is "fair," the hospital said.

According to police, the bus driver, Joseph Schultz, 29, Pittsburgh, was unfamiliar with the detour road. He was attempting to negotiate a curve in a dense fog when he struck Howard.

Zoning Board Meeting Tonight

Members of the Monessen Zoning Commission will hold a closed meeting tonight to review recommendations and objections pertaining to the proposed zoning ordinance for the city, Dr. Joseph M. Dudas, Sr., chairman, announced today.

The meeting will be held in the office of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The commission probably will also work on putting the zone proposals in final form for submission to City Council.

Public hearings will be held before Council takes action on the proposals.

Tonight's meeting is for commission members only.

Prison Board Hires New Deputy Warden

The Washington County prison board yesterday approved the hiring of a new deputy warden for the county jail.

George Laskody, Centerville, has been working at the jail since Aug. 29, taking the place of Deputy Warden Charles Grier, who retired. Laskody was hired by Warden Charles W. Reynolds, an action that requires approval of the board.

Three Suspects Held In Narcotics Ring

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (UP) — A male patient at the state tuberculosis hospital at nearby Cresson and two women will be charged today with violating the state Narcotics Act.

Mrs. Dorothy Johnson, 28; Vivian Barrymore, 26, and Charles Neal, 28, all of Johnstown, have been in custody since Sunday when city police aided by state police and a state narcotics agent broke the ring.

Neal, a patient at Flick State Hospital, was implicated by the women. He was taken into custody at the hospital and returned here to face charges along with the women.

Mrs. Johnson was arrested first. City police said they stopped her car in Johnstown Sunday and found about $35 worth of marijuana on her person. She told police she bought the narcotic in a Pittsburgh taproom.

After being implicated by Mrs. Johnson, Miss Barrymore was placed under arrest and both implicated Neal. Police said Mrs. Johnson had been using Neal's car to transport narcotics.

Both women admitted that they had brought packages of heroin to Johnstown from Pittsburgh. They said they transported about $19 worth of heroin on Sept. 16 and on Sept. 28. They said the heroin was delivered to Neal at the hospital.

Chief of Police Charles R. Griffiths said he had detailed statements from both women. He said three other men picked up for questioning about the dope ring were released for lack of evidence.

Parochial School Here Closed by the 'Flu'

While the situation is improving or remains unchanged in most schools, the "influenza-type" epidemic today took its toll at Holy Name parochial school in Monessen with the announcement that classes have been suspended there for the remainder of the week because of heavy absenteeism.

The Rev. Joseph Gajdosik, Holy Name pastor, said he dismissed classes this morning when more than 40 per cent of the 266 students were reported absent.

"Perhaps if the students stay at home and rest the balance of the week, we can remedy the present situation," the pastor said.

Dr. Joseph Pallone, superintendent of Monessen public schools, said attendance at the Junior-Senior High School was normal this week and "about normal" in the elementary grades.

This time last week some 716 students from the higher grades were stricken by the flu, causing the suspension of all public school classes for the remainder of the week.

Only 90 students in the Junior-Senior classes were absent this morning.

"This is normal," Dr. Pallone said.

Officials at Bellmarette Joint School District said the situation is "no worse and about the same as yesterday."

Attendance at Bellmarette higher grade schools is improving while there is a little drop in attendance in lower grade schools.

Rostraver officials said "things are getting back to normal." Less than 20 per cent of the total enrollment was absent at the start of classes this morning.

Greensburg Closed

St. Leonard and St. Hyacinth parochial schools reported less absenteeism today because of the epidemic.

Two football games scheduled this week have been postponed because of the epidemic. Heavy absenteeism has caused Brownsville to postpone its Friday game with Monessen High School until Monday at the local stadium.

North Huntingdon called for the postponement of its game with Rostraver Twp. this Friday.

Allegheny County reported 35,000 persons, mostly school children and college students, stricken within the past 11 days. Two mental institutions also had apparent flu outbreaks among nurses and attendants.

Hempfield Twp., largest school district in Westmoreland County, contemplated closing when 600 of 1,300 students failed to attend classes today. Hempfield also postponed until Nov. 15 its scheduled football game with New Kensington Friday night. It was the second postponement for both teams.

Also in Westmoreland County, the flu-like virus forced a shutdown of the Franklin Area Joint School and South Huntingdon Twp. School. School officials in Export said no shutdowns were planned despite the fact 28 per cent of the students there failed to show up for classes.

In Fayette County, Connellsville Public schools were closed today because of a 60 per cent decline in attendance.

Mock Evacuation Drill at C-M Hospital Tonight

A simulated mass evacuation fire drill will be staged at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital beginning about 6:30 this evening.

More than a half-million dollars in equipment from nine area companies will be used in the drill.

Fire-fighters from Monessen, Charleroi, Lock Four, Donora, Belle Vernon, North Belle Vernon, Monongahela, Carroll Twp. and Webster will take part in the hospital drill.

Two other departments, Fairhope and Rostraver Twp., will move into the Belle Vernon district and Monessen respectively as stand-by companies.

There will be no actual evacuation of patients.

The drill is being held in conjunction with National Fire Prevention Week.

Library Speakers Committe Is Being Formed

A speakers committee is being formed to help explain Monessen's proposed municipal library project to the city's voters, it was announced today by Donald C. Duvall, chairman of the Committee for the Library.

Local voters are being asked by City Council to approve a $200,000 bond issue at the election on Nov. 5. The proceeds will be used to construct a library building at a site on Donner Ave. between Third and Fourth Sts.

"This project needs the full understanding of our citizens," Duvall said, "and the Committee for the Library will do everything it can think of between now and election day to put the necessary information in the voters' hands.

"When we do that, we're sure the result will be an overwhelming vote in favor of the bond issue."

George Cieply, executive manager of the Chamber of Commerce, is coordinating the speakers committee.

Organizations of any kind which have scheduled meetings between now and election day and can make room on their programs for a library speaker are urged to call the Chamber office (MUrray 4-3200).

Speakers will be well informed about the project and will be prepared to answer questions about it, Cieply said.

Union Business Agents on Trial For Extortion

PITTSBURGH (UP)—William B Spencer and William Wiggins, owners of the Black Top Paving Co. in Washington, Pa., were expected to testify today in a federal court trial of two union business agents charged with extortion.

The trial of Thomas Pecora, 48, and Dante Martire, 41, union business agents charged with extorting $200 from the paving firm, got underway Monday before Judge Herbert P. Sorg.

Pecora and Martire are agents of Local 1058, International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union. Nicholas A. Stirone, recently convicted of extortion, is president of the union. He has filed for a new trial.

A motion for a continuance on grounds that recent publicity concerning unions had created "an atmosphere in which it is not possible to obtain a fair trial" was thrown out by Judge Sorg. Defense attorney Joseph S. Schuchert Jr. ha dasked for the continuance.

Asst. U. S. Atty Donald Bush told the jury he would show that Pecora and Martire used their official positions as business agents to "shake down" the paving company.

Stirone was called as a government witness Monday. He showed records of the union constitution, contracts with the firm and minutes of union meetings.

Minor Accident Here Yesterday

A minor motor accident happened in the 200 block of east Donner Ave., Monessen, late yesterday morning, police reported today.

Police said a car operated by Ralph Destefano, of 1307 Walnut St., Monessen, was traveling west on Donner Ave. when it was involved in an accident with a truck driven by Ero Jokiniemi, of 405 Motheral Ave., also of Monessen.

The truck was pulling out of a parking space when the mishap occurred.

Authority Meeting

The Monessen Parking Authority will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at Frank Ezerski's office, 512 Schoonmaker Ave.

U. S. Satellite Probe Planned by Congress

WASHINGTON (UP) — Congress today began investigating alleged U. S. failures in the missiles race. At the same time President Eisenhower received a secret briefing on U. S. and Russian rocket and satellite progress from high defense and scientist leaders.

A complete reappraisal of the U.S. defense program in the shadow of the Russian earth satellite appeared in the making.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, launched the preliminary congressional inquiry.

Acting on telegraphed requests of Democratic members of the committee, he ordered the preparedness subcommittee to investigate the apparent U.S. lag behind Russia in building long-range rockets and the intercontinental ballistics missile.

Staff investigators immediately started gathering information from Pentagon officials. They said they also would talk with authorities in the missiles and rockets field outside the Defense Department.

White House Under Fire

Their findings will be submitted to subcommittee chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), who, with other members, will decide whether to hold hearings.

Two more senators joined the congressional attack on the administration's missile program and defense economies.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-N.C.) telegraphed Russell that "I am concerned over silence from the White House and the administration on the status of the U.S. missile program."

He said Americans are willing to make sacrifices to insure national security.

Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) said Russia's earth satellite should jolt the United States out of "complacency" and end the nation's neglect of the need for training more scientific manpower.

Monessen Man One of Three Hurt in Crash

A Monessen man was one of three persons injured in a three-vehicle chain reaction crash last night about 7:15 on Route 40 about four miles west of Washington, state police reported today.

According to police, a car operated by Perry M. Lane, 40, Washington, R. D. 5, hit the rear of a car driven by Frank J. Wallace, 26, 1014 Dennis avenue, Monessen, that was stopped for traffic. Wallace's car was pushed into a truck driven by Frank Zitkovich, 31, 115 Vermont Street, Washington, police said.

Wallace, a member of the Air Force, was treated at Washington Hospital for contusions and released. Thomas Buckaski, 31, Everson, a passenger in the Wallace car, was also released from the hospital after treatment for contusions.

Lane was admitted to the hospital suffering face cuts, contusions and a possible fracture of the left leg.

W. Sterling Cole Quits House Post

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.) resigned today, effective Dec. 1, his office announced.

Cole last Friday was named director general of the International Atomic Energy Agency.

He has been senior Republican House member of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy.

Local Political Battle Lines Being Formed

Political battle lines began forming today in Monessen following the state Supreme Court's decision yesterday when it affirmed a lower court order directing that John R. Stieska be certified as the Republican nominee for mayor of Monessen.

The higher court's ruling by a unanimous vote came after incumbent Mayor Hugo J. Parente appealed a Westmoreland County Court order upholding Stieska's victory in the May 21 primary. Cumulation of write-in votes gave Stieska a 170-149 victory. If the votes had not been cumulated, Parente would have won, 70-58.

In commenting on the Supreme Court's decision today, Parente said,

"Naturally, the courts have the final say. Now that the ruling has been handed down, the Democratic party in Monessen knows where it stands in regards to campaigning in the general election.

"The party had a campaign plan outlined in the event the decision was not in my favor. We'll carry out that plan now. We intend to have a campaign that will bring out a large turnout of voters. We want to elect the entire city ticket as well as getting a large vote in Monessen for two local men who are seeking county offices."

He was referring to Judge David H. Weiss, candidate for a full 10-year term in Common Pleas Court and Coroner Stephen D. Yoney, who is seeking reelection.

Stieska told The Daily Independent this morning that he is working on a statement for publication tomorrow. He would not comment further.

Unofficial sources claim Stieska will conduct a "lively" campaign against Parente.

In its ruling yesterday, the Supreme Court held that the intent

Brags of Work with Missiles

MOSCOW (UP) — Soviet Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev said today the intercontinental ballistic missile is "only one of the many things we have." He had described the ICBM earlier as a "terrible and pitiless weapon."

"The age of bombers is over," Khrushchev said, "our ICBM shows it is no good to send humanly controlled machines against missiles.

"This all points to the fact we have even more things up our sleeve. You cannot send human flesh and blood to fight things like that."

Khrushchev spoke today to two British members of parliament whom he received in his Kremlin office. Monday night he spoke at a reception at the East German embassy and warned the United States and Turkey to watch their step in the Middle East because it will be too late "once guns begin to fire and rockets to fly."

(Diplomatic sources in London said Khrushchev's speeches apparently herald a tough new diplomatic policy occasioned by launching of the Soviet earth satellite.

(The sources said the tough policy had been expected, but the exact target was not known—that it could have been anywhere from Germany to the Far East. They said it apparently was Turkey whose staunch pro-Western stand has been a major irritant to Russia.

(Several hours before Khrushchev spoke in Moscow the Syrian press began whipping up a froth of charges alleging serious air and ground incidents on the Turco-Syrian border. The press reports told of a 30-minute shooting incident between Turkish and Syrian patrols and of a Turkish fighter plane flying over Syria. Turkey had no comment.)

Khrushchev repeated previous warnings against Turkish troop concentrations on the Syrian border and added:

"The Turks are not very reasonable—they have concentrated so many troops on the Syrian frontier that they are already denuding their frontier with us.

"The Americans and the Turks should reflect that once the war begins it can spread, and once guns begin to fire and rockets to fly it will be too late."

"The rocket is a pitiless weapon. We do not want to misuse our superiority. But I will not disclose any secrets if I tell you that we are now entering the period when fighters and bombers will have to be confined to museums because they already are superceded by rocket."

Point Totals Separate Three Perfect Scores

Three perfect scores were recorded in The Daily Independent's second football contest of the current season last week but Charles Gilbert of RD 2, Box 155, Perryopolis, had the closest total point guess to win the top $15 award.

Gilbert's guess of 29 points as the highest number any one team would score was just three points away from the German Township total over Bellmar in a 32-12 game.

Paul Malinchak, 81 Pennsylvania Blvd., Monessen won the second place $7.50 award with a perfect entry blank and a guess of 42 points to just edge the guess of 45 points by Carl Staycer, 928 Locust Ave., Monessen, who will take home the $5 third place total.

Selections on only nine games were all that were needed for a clean sweep last week as three contests were postponed due to the flu, the Charleroi-Brownsville, Monessen-Hempfield and Rostraver-Glassport tilts.

Trolley Fares To Be Boosted In Pittsburgh

HARRISBURG (UP) — Riders on the Pittsburgh Railways Co. lines will have their fares increased an estimated $1,078,000 annually beginning Sunday.

Lifting a 14-day suspension which it had imposed on the proposed increase pending an investigation and public hearings, the Public Utility Commission said late Monday it was "reasonably satisfied" that the new boost was justified.

The new schedule will hike cash fares from 20 to 23 cents and tokens sold for convenience from 20 to 21¼ cents. A through bus fare of 25 cents will go to 26¾ token (four for $1.05) or 28 cents cash.

They will go into effect one day before a threatened mass transit strike in Pittsburgh.

The commission, dismissing complaints against the boost by the city of Pittsburgh, emphasized that its order does not close the door on the city if it should decide to press its complaint further. The PUC said further public hearings would be held should the city officials request further discussion of the increase.

"The commission has considered all testimony and evidence available to it," the order read "While it is reasonably satisfied that the evidence is sufficient to justify the increased fares, the commission still has before it the complaint of the city of Pittsburgh against the new tariff.

"As a consequence, no further action is contemplated at this time other than to permit the proposed fares to become effective."

Wage Boost Cited

The firm said the additional revenue was needed primarily to meet a minimum annual wage boost of $591,220, based on an offered 10 cent per hour wage hike recently rejected by the AFL-CIO trolley-bus union.

While the increased fares were estimated to yield $1,078,000 at current passenger volumes, the company said a decrease in passengers will result in a revenue decrease of about $160,000 a year, reducing the firm's additional income to $918,000 a year.

The commission did not pass on the merit of the transit firm's contention for an allowance of the $591,220 anticipated wage increase, but said the firm still would fall below a fair return without the increased income.

The PUC said a contention by a Pittsburgh witness, Arnold H. Hirsch, of Washington, D.C. a utility consultant, that the firm's earnings were concealed, was "without foundation."

"In no event do we believe that Railways has attempted to conceal income through recording alleged excessive injury and damage accruals," the commission said, "nor do the amounts booked and those allowed as income tax deductions have a meaningful relationship."

The company said the higher fares will result in net yearly operating income of $807,000, but that the current $739,000 net would be reduced to $586,000 if existing fares were continued in the face of known operating expense increases other than wages.

of the voters on write-in ballots prevailed over the proper spelling of candidates' names.

The high court upheld Westmoreland County court decisions which reversed rulings by county elections boards. An opinion handed down by Chief Justice Charles Alvin Jones Monday ruled that Section 1405 of the election code has "exclusive reference to irregular ballots on voting machines."

Mayor Hugo Parente of Monessen, who won the Democratic nomination with ease, claimed a write-in victory for Republican nomination over John R. Stieska in the May 21 primary.

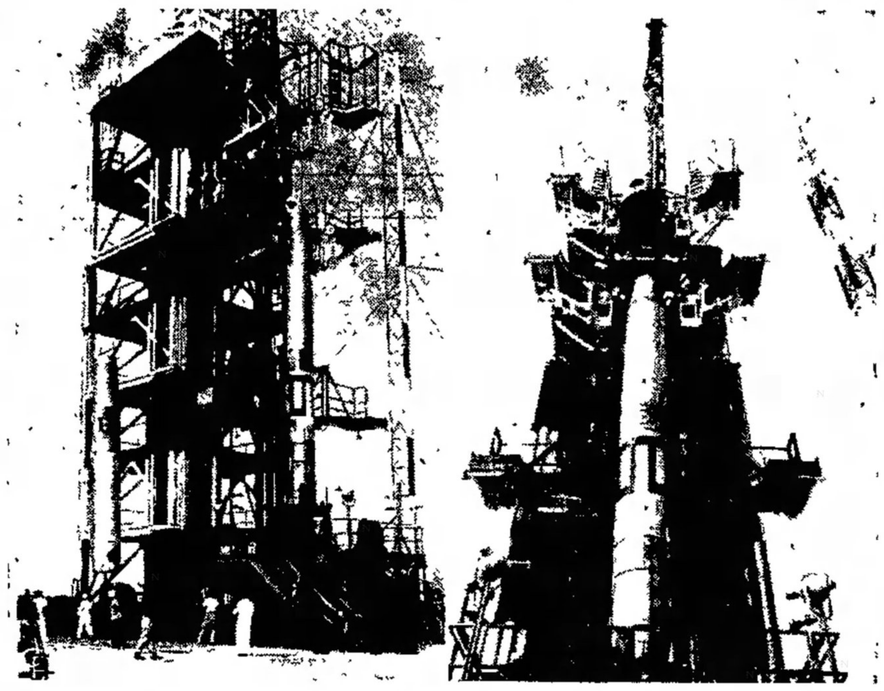
The county elections board on the advice of its solicitor ruled that only votes with correctly spelled names were acceptable. Parente claimed a 70-58 victory on that basis.

But Stieska appealed the decision to President Judge Richard D. Laird who reversed the elections board, ruling that all names regardless of spelling should be counted Stieska claimed the nomination by a 170 to 149

Parente appealed the ruling to the Westmoreland County Court en banc which supported Laird by a 2-1 vote. He then appealed to the State Supreme Court. The high court upheld the lower court and also held that rules which applied to paper ballots also applied to voting machines.

A similar dispute arose in Arnold when Democratic Councilman Al Colaianni claimed he defeated James Richards as a Republican write-in candidate and was upheld by the county elections board.

But Richards appealed to the courts and was upheld by Judge Laird and later by a court en banc. Jones ruled that the high court decision in the Monessen case also applied to Arnold.



ROCKET FOR LAUNCHING U. S. EARTH SATELLITE — A three-stage rocket of the kind scientists expect to use for launching the U S. earth satellite is put together on Vanguard launching pad, Cape Canaveral, Fla. Left: First stage of rocket is in position, and second stage is being craned upward. Right: Second stage is lowered over first stage. A third stage comes later.

U. S. Ready to Recoup Some Losses in Battle of Space

WASHINGTON (UP) — The United States is ready to recoup some of its losses in the battle of space with a rocket fired from a balloonborne platform 20 miles above the earth.

As soon as weather conditions are right the air force will try to send a rocket roaring 1 000 to 4.000 miles above the earth's surface—higher than the Russian satellite or any other man-made device has ever reached.

Launching of the space rocket, from a balloon over Eniwetok Atoll in the Pacific by "Project Far Side" has been set to go since late last month But scientists delayed it waiting for just the right weather

In Planning Stage

If successful, "far side" may be interpreted as an answer to the newly launched Soviet satellite But actually it has been in the planning stages for months.

Nevertheless it could restore a little of the prestige this country has lost to the Russians in the field of space science in the last few days.

A huge balloon will lift the rocket on a platform to a point 20 miles above Eniwetok to help free it from the earth's atmosphere. Then the rocket will fire, in four stages, into outer space.

How far will it go? Air force spokesmen frankly don't know With perfect conditions, it could even go 5 000 miles. But they said they will be satisfied if it exceeds 1 000 miles.

Launched At Angle

It won't circle the earth like Russia's satellite. The air force said that isn't the idea behind the project. So it won't be launched at the angle needed to place it in an orbit around the earth.

As it speeds through the skies, the rocket will radio back invaluable scientific data on cosmic rays, the magnetic field of the earth, and other observations.

enhower will speak out for the administration on the missiles controversy Wednesday at a news conference.

Today's meeting of the President with scientist and defense leaders had not been announced in advance.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty declined to give any details of the discussion

The conferees included Dr. Alan Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation, which is in charge of the U S satellite program; Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A Quarles; two other government scientists, whose names were not immediately available, Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams, Hagerty and other members of the White House staff

Quarles and Waterman remained at the White House for further conferences with members of Eisenhower's staff

Seek U.S. Reappraisal

The meeting came amid congressional demands for a complete reappraisal of U S. defense policies and calls by some congressmen and scientists for a "crash" program to catch up with Russia in the race to outer space

Only Monday afternoon Hagerty had told newsmen there were no plans for a special scientific briefing for the President prior to Thursday's meeting of the National Security Council. He said the satellite program would be discussed at the Thursday meeting.

Hagerty disclosed this morning that late Monday Eisenhower, after returning from a week end at his Gettysburg farm, directed that the satellite program officials be summoned to the White House today. A White House appointment for Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and disarmament adviser Harold E Stassen, originally scheduled for 8.30 a.m. e.d.t., was postponed until 4 p.m., but no reason for the change in the schedule was given at the time.

School

School for the Blind in Pittsburgh, with 75 per cent of its pupils hit by the virus, closed down until Monday.

Greensburg schools were closed for the week when 60 per cent of the students failed to show up for classes Monday. Most were reported suffering from flu, colds or grippe.

Dr. William R. Schrack, head of the department's Bureau of Communicable Diseases, emphasized additional information would be needed from the scenes of outbreaks before it could be determined if the stricken were suffering from influenza. He added it was impossible for the department to predict what course the illness outbreaks would take

Dr. Robert A. Matthews, state mental health commissioner, ordered Mayview and Woodville hospitals in Allegheny County closed to visitors after outbreaks among employes. Thirty nurses and attendants were reported ill with influenza at Mayview and "several" employes at nearby Woodville. The two institutions house 5,600 mental patients, none of whom have received Asian flu vaccine.

Matthews said visiting was suspended to keep the illness from spreading and to compensate for reduced working staffs

The Allegheny County Health Department said it had identified some of the stricken as suffering from influenza but said there was no immediate way to tell if it was the Asian type flu. The county did confirm a second Asian flu victim, to bring the statewide total since June to 27.

State VFW for Passage of Korean Bonus

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Pennsylvania Department, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has urged vote approval of a proposed constitutional amendment for payment of a 150 million dollar bonus to Pennsylvania's approximately 335,000 veterans of the Korean War.

William J. Tepsic, Pittsburgh, state VFW commander, told a rally of the organization here Sunday the payment of the Korean bonus could be made without undue hardship on citizens of the state.

He said the per capita cost would be only $13.63 and stretched over a three-year period would be only 11¼ cents per day "considerably less than the tax on a pack of cigarettes."

Amputees Fear 'Fagan'

MIAMI BEACH (UP) — Three youthful amputees, afraid they might be beaten by a modern-day Fagan, have revealed the operation of an east coast confidence ring which bilks money out of sympathetic housewives, police reported today.

The three youths were arrested here Monday while they slept in a stolen car.

They told police they had been hired in the Northeast by a man who coached them to tell housewives they were selling magazines to get money to buy artificial arms and legs.

Police identified the trio as John R. Corliss, 21, Portland, Me., whose right leg is amputated; Richard D. Gould, 24, North Abington, Mass., a left-arm amputee, and Robert L Cullifer, 22, Green County, N C., a right-arm amputee.

All three said they had been hired for the confidence ring after answering advertisements in newspapers promising work to the physically handicapped.

The trio said their employer promised them $160 a month plus room and board, but that they "never saw more than $15 a week." Some of them were beaten if they didn't work hard enough, they said.

"We worked in Boston for three weeks and then moved on to Philadelphia, where the boss left us to go to Virginia to hire more crippled people," one of the youths said.

Faubus' Charges Denied

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus' charge that paratroopers have invaded the girls' dressing room at Central High School was denied today by a girl student who said she may have been the original source of the charge.

Catherine Craighead, a 16-year-old orphan girl who is a sophomore at Central High, told reporters she believes Faubus' charge may be an "exaggerated" version of something she said.

Faubus made the allegation Monday. School officials termed it "ridiculous." The White House said it was "completely untrue and completely vulgar."

The governor retorted that "we'll prove it when the time comes." He said his charge was based on complaints from "mothers."

The Central High Mothers' League, a segregationist group which has worked closely with Faubus, had indicated to newsmen that Catherine, who lives at an orphanage here, could corroborate the governor's allegations.

But Catherine said that "somewhere along the line there has been an exaggeration."

"The soldiers do not go into the girls' dressing room," she said. She said troops on corridor duty escort Negro girls to the head of a stairway, across a hall from the entrance to the dressing room, as part of their assignment of preventing any incident as the Negroes move from one class to another.

"If the soldiers lingered at the top of the stairs, they might be able to look into the dressing room when the door was being opened or closed," she said. "But I've never seen them do that."

The nine Negro students arrived at Central High with their usual troop escort this morning. About 100 white students were standing around near the entrance, waiting for the school bell to ring. They paid no particular heed to the Negroes' arrival. There was no shouting, no demonstration of any kind.

Meanwhile, speculation as to the time when troops might be removed from the school was heightened by Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.), who said in Washington that the day is "rapidly approaching" when the soldiers can be withdrawn.

Hays, who talked with newsmen after a meeting with Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams, said he believes the Little Rock situation will become "stabilized" sufficiently within "a short time" to warrant recall of the troops by President Eisenhower.

HOW SATELLITE IS LAUNCHED — This diagram at the U. S. Research laboratory in Washington illustrates method of putting a satellite in outer space. The Russians launched theirs about like this.

Soviet Reports First Lesson from Satellite

LONDON (UP)—Soviet scientists today reported the first lessons they said they had learned from Russia's artificial earth satellite. They said it had disclosed changes in the "absolute intensity of the energy of the electro-magnetic pole."

Moscow Radio broadcast the scientists' partial report. The broadcast was heard in London.

Soviet research workers in the polar regions are maintaining regular observation of the flight of the man-made moon, the broadcast said.

It said sound signals from it had been picked up clearly by the Russian observatory at Mirny, in Antarctica. The signals also are being picked up by experts in the three other Soviet scientific stations in the Antarctic, it added.

The Russians said they were using a radio direction finder to plot the satellite's course. Alexei Treshnikov, head of the Soviet Continental Expedition, reported it had been established that the satellite's course during early observations was 273 degrees, then 276, 268 and 263 degrees.

"Soviet scientists in the Antarctic have also discovered changes in the absolute intensity of the energy of the electro-magnetic pole by means of the short wave transmitter" aboard the satellite, the broadcast said. "A device for research in the propagation of radio waves was used to obtain this information."

The Russians said that "at the request of American, French and other foreign scientists working in the Antarctic, all the expeditions have been informed of the time of the appearance of the satellite above the ice continent on the Seventh and Eighth October."

Earlier, radio signals from the satellite faltered several times during the night and there even were some reports that the man-made moon might be slowing down.

The Danish Technical University's microwave laboratory in Copenhagen and the British Broadcasting Corporation in London both noted the faltering but said the signals then returned to the familiar "beep beep" heard by scientists throughout the world.

In Washington, the naval research laboratory said its monitoring operations were normal. Other American observation posts reported temporarily losing the radio signal last night.

Naval laboratory officials speculated the sound may have been lost elsewhere due to atmospheric disturbances or radio interference in the ionosphere.

Danish scientists reported the satellite appeared to be slowing down. They said its speed appeared to be down some 2,500 miles an hour from the peak speed of 18,000 miles an hour first recorded last Saturday.

Roy Romeo New Band-Orchestra Parents President

Roy Romeo was elected president of the Monessen High School Band-Orchestra Parents Association at a meeting last night in the High School band room.

Other officers chosen were Mrs. Arvo Isaho, vice president; Mrs. John Hurrianko, secretary and Mrs. George Cvetan, treasurer.

These officers will assume their duties at the Nov. 4 meeting. A new membership drive is also underway, and all parents of band and orchestra members are eligible to attend.

Mrs. Michael Kunsa, president, was in charge of the session which began with the pledge of allegiance.

Mrs. Einar Ruokonen, secretary and Arvo Isaho, treasurer, gave routine reports. Mrs. George Cvetan reported that the Sept. 20 bake sale was very successful. A new project adopted was the sale of candy to aid the ways and means fund.

Friday Deadline For Tickets to Chamber Dinner

Friday at 5 p.m. is the deadline for buying tickets for the annual Monessen Chamber of Commerce banquet next Tuesday at Twin Coaches, Frank P. Ezerski Jr. and Leonard Stern, general co-chairmen, announced today.

Ticket chairman Andrew Kritsky said tickets can be purchased at Rosenson's, Stern's, Krasik's and Check's furniture stores and also at the Chamber office at 335 Schoonmaker Ave.

Kritsky said many out-of-town persons have bought tickets for the annual event.

Drew Pearson, world-famous newspaper columnist, will be the principal speaker.

Teamster Records Mystery

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate investigators waited impatiently today for delivery of Teamster convention records to see whether they are getting evidence or ashes.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate Rackets Committee said a union attorney reported Sunday night that documents subpenaed by the committee "had been thrown down the incinerator." The attorney blamed a night maid at the Eden Roc Hotel in Miami Beach, Fla., where the recent Teamster convention was held, McClellan said.

But union president-elect James R. Hoffa said in Miami Beach Monday night the documents were on their way to Washington after being "temporarily lost." He said there was "nothing wrong."

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy in turn challenged Hoffa or any other Teamster official to give assurances the documents were intact. He said John F. English, union secretary-treasurer, "could not give assurance that all the documents were there."

Strange Coincidence

It was not clear whether any of the papers actually had been burned. Hoffa's comment indicated they had not, but Kennedy quoted the union attorney as saying the committee could see for itself the documents had been in the incinerator.

McClellan said when the attorney was asked for the maid's name so that she could be interviewed, he reported she had died suddenly of a heart attack.

"The committee will be interested in determining whether this incident is just another of the many strange coincidences that the committee has encountered in trying to secure Teamster records, or if it is in fact a wilful defiance of the committee's authority and an attempt to obstruct its investigations," he added.

The documents in question are records of the convention's credentials committee. The convention seated hundreds of delegates despite the Senate committee's statement it had evidence they had been chosen illegally.

Campaign Briefs—

Keim Says no Bosses In Democratic Party

"If I am elected your district attorney on Nov. 5, I will be your district attorney," Earl S. Keim Democratic candidate for D. A. in Westmoreland County, told a rally in Lower Burrell Twp. last night.

"I can also say that other Democrats on the ticket will be your office holders if they are elected to these high offices in the county, he added.

The present assistant D.A. rapped at bossism charges that are being hurled by GOP candidates. He cited the presence of Howard M. Bricker, an independent winner in the primary, and the fact that it took five rounds of voting to name Judge David H. Weiss in the special Democratic judge nomination process, as "good examples why no one person or group controls the party.

"Why there are as many different factions as there were candidates for that judge vacancy, and they really had to battle it to the wire. If several of the candidates had not conceded, as time went on, who knows how many ballots it would have taken," he said.

In closing, he asked the group to vote yes for the Korean Bonus issue on the Nov. 5 ballot. He said:

"When you vote yes for the Korean bonus, you are not giving our boys charity, but showing your gratitude for a job well done."

Others speaking were: Judge Edward G. Bauer, Judge David H Weiss and District Attorney L. Alexander Sculco, judicial candidates; Stephen D. Yoney, coroner candidate; Leo Sukala, candidate for re-election as prothonotary; Howard Bricker, clerk of courts candidate; and Dora M. Dunn, jury commissioner.

Tonight the candidates speak at Columbiana Hall in Arnold. Tomorrow night they will meet Democratic workers in West Newton.

Favors Bonus Bill

The Westmoreland County Democratic Committee today went on record as supporting the Korean bonus referendum on the Nov. 5 general election ballot.

The announcement was made by Jay W. Kromer, chairman, following a general policy meeting of the committee and candidates yesterday in Greensburg.

The group also announced its support for the absentee ballot issue to be voted on Nov. 5.

Register Thursday

Thursday has been set as the new date for registering for the adult driving program at Monessen High School.

Registration will be held in the school auditorium from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.

The registration fee must be paid at the same time.

Jewish Holiday Season Continues Here Tomorrow

The Jewish holiday of Succos, or Tabernacles, which dates back to Biblical days, will begin tomorrow at sundown with services at Monessen Kneseth Israel Synagogue.

Rabbi Stampfer said services will be held at 6:45 p. m. tomorrow, Thursday and Friday. Morning prayers will be said at 9 o'clock Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

At morning services, special blessings are recited with the use of a Lulav, a palm branch, an Esrog, citron, as well as myrtle and willow leaves. These branches and leaves are described for use on the Feast of Tabernacles in the Bible, the Book of Leviticus, chapter 23.

The holiday was originally associated with the booths in which the ancient Israelites camped after leaving Egyptian bondage under the leadership of Moses. Later the holiday took on the form of expression of thanksgiving to God for the autumn harvest.

Coroner Handles 41 County Cases

Westmoreland County Coroner Stephen D. Yoney, Monessen, said his office handled 41 cases during September, including one autopsy and one inquest.

Six persons were killed as the result of motor accidents in the county while four persons died in county hospitals as the result of motor mishaps in Allegheny County.

One person was killed by a train, four persons committed suicide and two died after falls. Plant accidents claimed two lives and a farm accident killed one. An accidental gun shot wound killedn other.

Heart trouble continued to be the biggest killer, taking 18 lives.

Soviet Wins Race to Moon, Expert Claims

BARCELONA, Spain (UP)—An American scientist who predicted the launching of the Soviet satellite to within a few days said today the Russians have practically won the race to the moon.

Heinz Koelle, chief of the preliminary design section of the Army Ballistics Missile Agency at Huntsville, Ala., said the Russians can, and almost certainly will, reach the moon in the next few months.

The Russians, Koelle said, need only to modify the engines used to launch the satellite and reduce its payload to reach the "escape velocity" that will take them to the moon.

And by stepping up the power of their engines still further, a feat well within Russian capabilities, they will be able to achieve the sending of manned vehicles into space in the next two or three years if they wish to, he said.

Koelle said these estimates are startling but very possible.

Koelle said his predictions on the Soviet satellite—made as long ago as March—gave him no feeling of elation.

"It is a tremendous victory for them," he said. "Those people who try to minimize it forget that the weapons of the cold war are not the same as the weapons of the hot war.

"And this was a cold war weapon. Why Professor Sedov himself told me the Russians considered the satellite a political feat."

Prof. Leonidas Sedov, head of the Soviet delegation to the International Astronautical Congress, entered the hotel lobby while Koelle was speaking to a United Press reporter. He looked—as he has since the successful launching of the satellite was announced—very pleased.

In another corner of the hotel were members of the American delegation which includes both military and civilian experts. There was thinly disguised bitterness among them at the Soviet success and the bogging down of the U.S. "Vanguard" project.

For various reasons, delegates did not want to be quoted by name on what they called "jealousies" that have held up the American satellite.

Men Suffer in the Name of Liberty

WE WHO ENJOY and practice personal liberty ought to feel it deeply when we hear that a man is suffering for saying what he believes.

Such suffering, of course, is routine in lands ruled by dictators; it's part of the very atmosphere of these places We know that countless men and women are paying dearly for just a small portion of the liberty which is routine for Americans.

But a man is suffering greatly now in Yugoslavia, ruled by the Communist dictator, Marshal Tito. Many Americans, including the present writer, have met this man personally and many others know of his career.

He is Milovan Djilas, a partisan fighter against the Germans in World War II. Then a theoretical Communist himself, Djilas associated himself with Tito and became a vice president of Yugoslavia.

But Djilas had the unfortunate (in a Communist dictatorship) habit of thinking for himself. Still worse, he began to say publicly what he was thinking.

At first this took the form of minor dissents from Tito policies. Then came public criticism by Djilas of the Yugoslav Communist party and a suggestion that Yugoslavia's interests might be better served by having more than one political party.

For this heresy, Djilas was tried in secret, given a suspended sentence, stripped of all position and honors and deprived of the right to make a living for his family.

But this did not silence him. When Tito made his peace with the Kremlin and again when Russia smashed the revolt in Hungary, Djilas spoke out. To foreign correspondents in Belgrade he denounced Yugoslav foreign policy which bowed to the mastery of Moscow.

* * *

DJILAS was promptly imprisoned But he had written a book and somehow managed to have a manuscript of it smuggled to a publisher in New York.

We have not yet read "The New Class". But reviews describe it as a devastating attack upon Communism, Djilas testifying from personal experience that it enslaves the very masses it pretends to serve.

Djilas was hauled before a secret court again last week. Defiantly refusing to answer the questions of the prosecutor if his side of the case could not be given to the public, Djilas was sentenced to seven more years in prison.

There is not much that can be done for this man who is suffering so greatly for the crime of thinking with the mind which God gave him. But the American people and their leaders have ways of registering their sympathies. And they should do so emphatically.

Court's Decision Clarifies the Law

THE STATE Supreme Court decision which has the immediate effect of making John R Stieska the Republican nominee for mayor of Monessen in the Nov. 5 election also provides a much needed clarification of the law concerning write-in votes on voting machines.

Until the dispute arose here between Mr. Stieska and Mayor Hugo J. Parente, who opposed each other for both party nominations although both are registered Democrats, lower court decisions contradicted each other. This made it uncertain whether election boards could cumulate write-in votes for a candidate, no matter how his name is spelled, so long as the intent of the voter is clear.

In deciding for Mr. Stieska, the Supreme Court has followed the law and custom which have long prevailed where paper ballots are used. This obviously makes common sense. Mr Stieska was clearly the choice of a majority of the local Republican voters who took the trouble to fill the blank space on their party ticket, and it is simple justice that he should be the nominee.

It is not yet clear what Mr. Stieska intends to do with the nomination now that he has it He said some weeks ago that he would conduct an active campaign if he were declared the winner. And if he does, that would give the city a somewhat more normal campaign this fall.

* * *

WE THINK every friend of good government deplores the failure of the Republican party to put up candidates for local offices at the primary last May. This was a shocking lapse of party responsibility which put this large and busy community in the same political class with the backwoods areas of the deep South.

Whatever happens this year, we hope the more than 1,000 citizens here who are registered in the Republican party can find the leadership to give them an effective voice in the public affairs of the community It is no disgrace in American politics to lose elections; the disgrace lies in remaining silent and impotent while a one-party monopoly runs the show to suit itself.

Merry-Go-Round—

Two Teamster Officials 'Chickened'

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It's no secret that the election of Jimmy Hoffa as head of the Teamsters was a deep disappointment to the forces of clean unionism inside the AFL-CIO, including George Meany But it's supposed to be a secret that Meany had counted on two powerful executives inside the Teamsters to stand up against Hoffa. They were Einar Mohn, former right - hand man to Dave Beck, and John English, secretary-treasurer of the Teamsters Both chickened

Mr. Pearson

Here is the private conversation between Hoffa and Mohn which took place just before Mohn caved in The reader can draw his own conclusions

Hoffa: 'What's this I hear that you are still thinking of running in this election for something other than vice president? Well, you go right ahead! I think, however, that it would be only right for me to tell you that I have already picked the man who will immediately oppose you for vice president."

Mohn: 'Now Jimmy, who is it? Someone I know? You know I have the votes to hang on to my vice presidency What are you trying to pull?"'

Hoffa: "I'll be blankety blanked if I'll tell you' But I will tell you that it's up to you If you do anything other than support me you are through And you know that what Jimmy says, Jimmy means!"'

After that, Mohn bowed out

The man who tipped the scales for Hoffa, ironically, was the man who was supposed to have been the AFL-CIO's white hope — John English. Meany had appointed English to Dave Beck's seat on the AFL-CIO executive board In return English agreed to start a campaign inside the Teamsters to sweep out both Beck and Hoffa

In other words, the AFL-CIO handed English the broom but he never did much sweeping Meany gave him the bawling out of his life for his failure to act, but English was up against one of the toughest operators in America He came out 100 per cent for Hoffa, the man he was supposed to clean out of the union

What Next for Teamsters

Here are the repercussions bound to take place as a result of Jimmy Hoffa's election as president of the world's largest union.

Repercussion No. 1: William A Lee, the Teamsters 7th vice president is expected to lead the anti-Hoffa forces into a new rival union under the AFL-CIO s wing He has already received the unofficial blessing of AFL-CIO President George Meany. Other cleanup candidates — Tom Hickey, Tom Haggerty, and Congressman Jack Shelley — have pledged privately to join Lee in forming the new union Lee's lawyers have been mapping legal strategy to prevent Hoffa from draining the treasuries of locals that may want to follow Lee

Repercussion No. 2: Hoffa will probably join forces with John L Lewis in a new independent labor organization. The two labor strongmen have already huddled secretly. Hoffa has also talked to Baker's boss James Cross, also under congressional fire, about throwing in with them Lewis said he could bring in the racket-ridden International Longshoremen's Union which has been feeding out of the Mine Workers' trough The Hoffa-Lewis labor organization would be a haven for unions kicked out of the AFL-CIO

Repercussion No. 3: The Justice Department will try again to send Hoffa to jail The Criminal Division is studying Hoffa's testimony before the Senate Rackets Committee, with a view to prosecuting him for perjury. Hoffa claimed under oath he couldn't remember details that he later had no trouble recalling before the AFL-CIO ethical practices committee. The Justice Department is also interested in Senator McClellan's charge that most of the Teamster convention delegates were illegally elected

Repercussion No. 4: The Senate Rackets Committee will now take off the kid gloves and pummel Hoffa with all it's got It will cross-examine Hoffa about certain deals such as the use of union money to buy lots in Florida to sell to union members. The committee will also try to put enough evidence in the record to prove that Hoffa was illegally elected. The committee believes 75 per cent of the delegates can be disqualified.

From Vienna—

Cold War Over the Atom

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

VIENNA — The Soviets are at it again, using every maneuver to stall, hamper and, as I see it, immobilize if possible the beginnings of the International Atomic Energy Agency.

Mr. Drummond

By now it seems clear that the Soviet Union, having fought the atoms for peace concept from the moment President Eisenhower gave it voice is asking to make its birth as difficult as controversial and as inauspicious as possible

This comes as no surprise to anybody and in the longer view there appears to be no great apprehension that the Soviet bloc will be able to harrass very seriously the functioning of the new Agency once this conference brings it fully into being by establishing its directorate.

Here is what is happening:

At session after session of the general conference the Soviet delegation has been reopening every controversial issue despite the fact that they had all been settled conclusively a dozen times at the meetings of the preparatory commission at which the nations meeting here were represented.

First Day Attack

On the first day of the conference, the Russians began by launching an acrimonious attack on the West for not accepting the Soviet version of nuclear disarmament and citing this as evidence that the West was eager for war

On the second day, the Soviets started to reverse the decisions of the preparatory commission and to seat the representatives of Red China as "observers."

On the third day they tried to persuade the conference to unseat the Chinese National government, which is a founding member of the Agency, and substitute the mainland Communists

On each issue and on every opportunity the Soviet Union is sending its satellites and its functionaries to the rostrum to repeat its own arguments — Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania, Yugoslavia, Poland, Bulgaria, Byelorussia, the Ukraine India and Indonesia have with reservations been willing to help and once Egypt strode forward to echo Moscow's desires

And so it has gone day after day.

The debate has been tedious, time-consuming and repetitious The replies have been brief and sparing because most of the delegation are eager to get on with their real work

Not that there have been no counter arguments The Korean delegate offered four reasons why the Chinese Communists should not be voted into any United Nations agency They were that Red China is still at war with the UN which has voted it an aggressor that there are 300 000 Red Chinese soldiers in Korea not for peaceful purposes that Red China has killed 1 000 000 people in Korea since the attack in 1950 and that the Chinese regime is in power today only because it refuses to permit free elections

The Chinese Nationalist delegate pointedly noted the Soviet Union's 'double standard of conduct' in atomic matters in that it imposes nuclear controls on its satellites but refuses to accept such controls for itself

But the outlook may not be as bleak as the ruffled surface of this conference indicates The fact is that while the Soviet bloc is monopolizing most of the oratory, it is losing all of the decision

With a good three to one majority, the conference has refused to seat Red China as an observer, has refused to substitute the mainland Communists for the Nationalist delegation What is most important, the ranks of the conference show every sign of holding firm against the divisive tactics which the Soviets contrive

The one menacing cloud which overhangs this truly radiant effort to speed and spread the benefits of nuclear science for the world is this one unanswered question will the Soviet Union continuously try to hamstring the functioning of the I A E A after it has been brought into being this month by using the same tactics it has been using during its founding?

The judgment of those who are closest to this great enterprise is that they will likely try but will be unsuccessful

In the first place the architects of the statute which will govern this Agency have learned that no international machinery responsible for an action program can do its job if it has a built-in veto which can throw it into neutral gear at the whim of one country There is no veto here in Vienna and there is no veto never attached to the agency itself

Once this general conference is over and the I A E A is on its own, there will be little room for oratory and its Secretary-General almost certainly to be Red Stirling Cole of New York will have wide administrative latitude

I am also of the impression, for what it is worth that Professor E S Enelvanov, a distinguished member of the Academy of Sciences of the U S S R and chief Soviet delegate really hardened his heart in carrying out the delaying maneuvers which Moscow has ordered True, he personally delivered the name-calling, the West-loves-war opening speech as he was no doubt directed, but for the rest of it, he has mostly sent his subordinates to the rostrum to take up the time of the conference He has not gone himself when he could avoid it

On balance it seems to me that while the peaceful atom is not escaping the cold war, it will not be stymied by it

The Peoples Forum—

'Party-Boss' System in County, Voter Claims

To the Editor:

The Democratic candidates' county campaign oratory asks us to vote for them now because of all the peoples" laws that have been enacted in Washington during the past 25 years

In other words, the Westmoreland County Democratic machine modestly claims credit for giving birth to the New Deal, the Fair Deal, etc. (True, they do have deals among themselves!) At the present rate, before their speeches are over, we can expect them to be taking credit for the Magna Carta, the freeing of the slaves, the Declaration of Independence and the Christian religion. One of the candidates indeed has advertised his 'regular church attendance' as a qualification for re-election as judge, as though that were a rarity. But why should he deem that "plug" necessary?

Rather than any little New Deal, the Westmoreland County Democratic Party has merely given us various exhibitions of the very old political workings of bossism: self-serving Inside Deals, for the past two decades. By continuing their manipulations, they hope to have after November 5th, possession of all five county judgeships And at least four of the five, will have been 'promoted from and trained in" their district attorney's office, ruled by the main boss, all in accordance with an admitted pre-arranged plan, according to D A. Sculco.

What virtue can the machine justly claim? Well, Candidate Eauet asserts we have "good government" just now, citing some misleading figures to "prove" it He says we have only "one to two" weeks of criminal court now, but had "four to five" weeks when he took office (what office?). But why are there now not more minor crimes up in court? (We never had many major ones). When he "took office" wasn't there an immense public stir about the reception accorded misdemeanor informations? And ever since, has not the bossed D. A's office been comparatively inactive? (Anyway, he cannot prove there were ever in our history, four to five weeks of criminal court per term) This looks like outright deceit of the voters.

This same candidate also boldly (?) has advertised himself as a foe of Communism. But does he reveal, that the main perpetuating bulwark of Communism is the party-boss setup; the very same system they have given us in this county for the past 20 years?

Hoffa Election Termed Challenge to Congress

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP)—The election of James R. Hoffa to the Teamsters presidency automatically puts it up to Congress to enact some more labor legislation in the session beginning next January.

A likely tipoff on the congressional mood was the instant reaction of Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) who said of the election that "Congress is now challenged, if not dared, to enact laws that will protect the rank and file union members and the public from the nefarious menace of gangsterism and racketeer control in some labor unions."

Mr. Wilson

McClellan speaks from a position of strength, if not neutrality. He is chairman of the Senate Rackets Committee that has been giving Hoffa a going over

No one is more sharply aware of that fact than George Meany, the hard - fisted plumber who is president of the AFL-CIO.

Meany Begins Maneuvers

Soon after the Teamster story began to unfold before the Senate Rackets Committee in terms of financial finagling by President Dave Beck, vice president Hoffa and pals Meany began to maneuver. He was maneuvering to protect organized labor against the barbed labor legislation which Congress might enact if public indignation at the Teamster goings-on was not somehow appeased

Meany and the AFL-CIO high command wanted to oust Beck from the Teamster presidency after his Senate committee appearances. They could not swing it The effort to prevent Hoffa's election to succeed Beck came finally to the promise now in effect. That if Hoffa were elected, the Teamsters would be expelled from AFL-CIO membership.

Meany's maneuvering, which will end, finally, with departure of the Teamsters from the AFL-CIO, probably will protest organized labor next session from the kind of regulatory legislation which it does not want. The least Meany and company can expect from the next session of Congress is new legislation to keep sticky fingers out of union cash boxes.

That will be all right with Meany. The AFL - CIO Ethical Practices Committee is on record for that

The Eisenhower administration is committed to go at least as far as the AFL-CIO in keeping union leaders honest

Backs Financial Reports

President Eisenhower told questioners last March that he would support legislation requiring unions to give their members "an exact accounting of how their money is used" One month later, Eisenhower said there should be legislation requiring 'the registration, reporting and disclosure" of all facts with respect to union welfare and pension funds The administration is not committed on what to do about labor racketeering

Unions now make financial reports to the Labor Department That was required by the Taft-Hartley Act Successive secretaries have held, however, that there was no provision for publicity of these reports Neither, it would appear, do the reports bear sufficient detail to reveal financial practices such as prevailed in the Teamsters Union

The Senate passed but the House rejected last session a resolution authorizing the Labor Department to make union reports public Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell believes the reports should be disclosed He said

"That authority would go a long way toward preventing the abuses"

Behind The News—

Bevan, British Leftist, Takes Turn to Right

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Aneurin Bevan, long the No 1 'hot head' of the British Labor Party has taken a strong turn to the right

In doing so, Bevan seems to have pulled the rug out from under the entire Laborite left wing of which he has been for years the leader

Mr. McCann

Bevan's radical change of attitude was made apparent last week at the 56th annual conference of the Labor Party

For one thing he was given the credit for insuring the defeat of a resolution which would have pledged any future Labor government to ban the testing, manufacture and use of nuclear weapons even if other countries did not.

Fears Britain's Destruction

In an impassioned speech, Bevan said that for Britain to take action alone might increase, not decrease the danger of a third world war and might lead to Britain's destruction in a war between the United States and Soviet Russia

Bevan, his party's leading orator, said he had formed his opinion only after 'a lot of agonizing thinking'

"I am deeply convinced that the resolution ... might have disastrous consequences throughout the world," he said

Bevan's altered attitude means that a long split in the Labor Party is being closed Apparently he and party leader Hugh Gaitskell a right - winger, intend to work together from now on

One reason for Bevan's swing to the right is that he has been promised the post of foreign secretary if and when the Laborites get back into power

See Election Victory

Another is that the Laborites are convinced they can win a general election now, — a conviction that is shared by a good many Britons

There might be another reason in the new surge of Liberal Party activity largely due to a big increase in the Liberal vote in recent by-elections for individual vacancies in the House of Commons

A strongly united moderate Labor Party would make it much more difficult for the Liberals to make a come-back

Bevan has been a rebel in the Labor Party for years His turn toward moderation is an important development in British politics It does not mean he will now cease to be Labor's leading American He believes United States foreign policy is belligerent and dangerous

At least, his hot head seems to be cooling It could be that if he ever got to be foreign secretary, responsibility would cool it some more.

Faith A. Ninchak, J. R. Wallace Wed

Faith Anne Ninchak and John Robert Wallace were united in marriage in the First Methodist Church of Monessen on Saturday, Oct. 5. The Rev. Leroy S. Cass, church pastor, heard the exchange of vows at 4:30 in the afternoon.

The ceremony was preceded by nuptial organ music played by Beryl Fleming and vocal selections by Mrs. Jack Groat, the former Joy Jones.

Arrangements of white gladiolus decorated the church altar, white crash lined the church aisle and white satin bows indicated the family pews.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ninchak of 514 First St., and was given in marriage by her father. Her husband is the son of Mrs. Margaret Wallace of 452 Motheral Ave.

Lace and Tulle

Wearing an Alfred Angelo wedding gown the bride approached the altar for the marriage rites. The gown was styled of Chantilly lace forming points on the sides of the long torso. The fitted bodice was made with a boat neckline accented with iridescent sequins and long sleeves ending in points at the wrist. The skirt was fashioned of white nylon tulle ruffles and was very full and floor length. Her fingertip veil of sheer French illusion was held to a sequin crown. She carried a white orchid entwined with lilies of the valley atop a mother of pearl covered Bible.

Myra Anne Belan as maid of honor wore a gown of yellow organdy accented with white brocade on the skirt. Her colonial bouquet was of yellow fugi mums Miss Belan is a cousin of the bride.

Karlyn Zazac was the flower girl. Her attire was a blue gown of nylon tulle and lace ruffles She carried a basked of pink fugi mums.

James Borsevich was best man for Mr. Wallace.

Mrs. Ninchak, mother of the bride, wore a dress of aqua lace with chiffon fly-away panels Her accessories were black velvet and her corsage was yellow roses. Navy blue lace was chosen by the mother of the bridegroom. She wore matching accessories and a yellow rose corsage.

Among the guests were the maternal grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. George Dukery, Donora, and her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ninchak of Monessen.

A wedding reception at the Sokol Hall for approximately 200 relatives and friends supplemented the ceremony. Pink and white streamers decorated the hall along with the ferns and flowers. Centering the bridal table was a decorated wedding cake.

Out of Town

Out of town guests were from Donora, Charleroi, Fairless Hills, Irwin and Belle Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace later left for a trip to New York City For traveling the bride wore a black and white tweed suit with white accessories and a white orchid corsage. Upon their return they will reside at 452 Motheral Ave.

Both young people were graduated from Monessen High School with the class of 1956. Mr Wallace is employed by the Pittsburgh Steel Co.

SNOWFLAKE — wool tweed in black and white is combined with white beaver for a fall and winter coat from a new collection. Belted with black leather, the coat wears a casual air for either town or country.

Shirley Ann Sullenberger Weds William Andrew Hall

Exchanging their nuptial vows in the First Baptist Church of Monessen on Saturday, Sept. 28 at 6:45 in the evening were Shirley Ann Sullenberger and William Andrew Hall.

The Rev. Lloyd S. Erb, church pastor, read the lines of the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sullenberger of Pricedale, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hall of 834 McKean Ave., Donora.

Mr. Sullenberger escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage. She was wearing a ballerina length gown of white hand embroidered organdy with a fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore a matching headpiece and carried an orchid atop a white Bible.

Maid of Honor

The bride asked her cousin, Shirley King, to be her maid of honor and only attendant. She chose to wear a ballerina length gown of pink hand embroidered organdy styled ballerina length with a fitted bodice and full skirt. She carried a mixed colonial bouquet

William Sullenberger, brother of the bride was best man. The ushers were Edward and Charles Sullenberger.

The mother of the bride wore a dress of pink and black with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Following the church ceremony the couple was honored at a reception held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Sullenberger of Monongahela St., Belle Vernon. Guests attended from Pittsburgh, Uniontown, Mt. Pleasant and Donora.

Live Here

Mr. and Mrs. Hall have established their residence at 542 Summit Ave., Monessen.

The bride was graduated from Rostraver High School with the 1957 class. The bridegroom was graduated from Donora High School in 1954.

Marriage of Area Couple Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Margie are residing in West Newton R. D. 1, after their marriage in Seven Dolors Church of Yukon. The bride is the former Lorraine Horvath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Horvath of Wyano. Her husband is the son of Mrs. Julia Margie of Fayette City R. D. 1.

The Rev. Rudolph A. Halvonik, church pastor, heard the exchange of vows at 9 a. m., Aug. 31. Helen Krajnak, church organist, accompanied the male choir of the church in providing the music.

The bride wore a white gown of embroidered nylon tulle over skinner satin with a fitted bodice, wing collar and long sleeves. Her veil of French silk illusion was held by a lace cloche. She carried a cascade bouquet of hite carnations with a pink rosebud corsage as center.

Louise Zyla, Wyano, an aunt of the bride, was maid of honor and wore an aqua ensemble. She carried a lace basket of yellow carnations.

John Horvath, brother of the bride, was best man.

The mother of the bride wore a beige dress, brown accessories and a white carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore navy blue with a similar corsage.

There was a weding breakfast, dinner and reception at the home of the bride's parents. The couple then left for a trip to Washington, D. C.

The bride, a South Huntingdon graduate, is employed by West Penn Power Co. at Greensburg. Her husband, a Marion graduate, works at National Tube, McKeesport.

ON THE BALL

By CLAIR BROWN

Steelers Vastly Improved But—

Pittsburgh's 1957 Steeler football team is a vastly improved entry over the squad which has been representing that city in the past, according to most valley fans who have seen the '57 entry in action . . . There's still room for more improvement we think, especially on pass defense and the running game isn't exactly sensational but in the passing department where Earl Morrall, the new QB is boss, Pittsburgh takes a back seat to no one . . . He can thread a needle at 40 yards with that ball and Jug Girard is the perfect "eye" for that threading job, taking those passes in full stride which throws even top pass defenders like the Browns off guard . . . If Pittsburgh could find a "toe" like Lou Grozza, most Steeler fans feel the Parkermen would even get in the Division title battle.

* * *

Speaking of the Steeler-Brown encounter, Fayette City's Jim Hamer got into a hassel with Paul Brown, which is usual procedure when those two get together . . . The Saturday flare-up came on a penalty call by Hamer near the Brown bench . . . It wasn't a torrid exchange of words but at least warm . . . Hamer received a tough break the morning after the game when he severely cut three fingers on a power saw while working at the water plant in Fayette City which he serves as superintendent . . . It'll take more than that to keep a guy like Hamer down but such an injury is very painful whether you can "take it" or not . . . Jim is considered one of the best if not the best back judge in the NFL.

Johnstown Coach Seeking New Post—

Dave Hart, who brings his Johnstown Johnnies' grid team here on Oct. 25 is looking for a new job according to reports from the Flood City which insist he is dissatisfied with criticism leveled at him this season, especially after Saturday night's loss to Windber, arch-rival of the Johnnies . . . The Hartmen defeated Redstone and Johnstown Catholic but have lost to New Kensington and Windber . . . Our globe-trotting sports pal Lou Kichinko, not getting enough football with the college and pro games took in the Long Beach City College and Santa Ana Junior College game. Lou, who has been staying with the "Hooks" McLaughlin's, former Monessen residents, is shoving off this week for Tempe, Arizona to visit ex-Greyhound athletes, John Bogavich and Bob Burns at Arizona State College.

A story in one of the Pittsburgh newspapers caused quite a bit of eyebrow raising over the week end when it stated, "Martha shows class as Indians achieve third victory, 15-7." . . . Being a football contest, the name Martha sounded like something new had been added to the game. A check of the roster showed it was Paul Martha, Shady Side Academy quarterback . . . A Monessen man Dwayne J. Byron, of 949 Leeds Ave., took one of the top awards in a district newspaper's football contest last week and shared a $500 jackpot with five other winners . . . Have you entered The Daily Independent's contest yet? . . . It's fun, take a stab at it and you may be pleasantly surprised with a winner.

Bucs Fourth Hitting, Last Fielding—

Pittsburgh's Pirates finished as high as fourth in team batting in the National League but being up to bat less times than the three teams ahead of them helped for all had more hits than the Bucs . . . Pittsburgh was also last in RBIs, and home runs but had far more hits than Brooklyn, New York, Philadelphia and Chicago . . . In club fielding the Buccos rated the cellar position thanks to 169 errors, ten more than nearest rival New York . . . Cincinnati committed only 108 miscues . . . The Bucs did reel off 145 double plays, fourth best in the league which is a pat on the back for the Groat-Mazeroski combine . . . Wait til next year.

Turley Surprise Choice To Save Yankee Hopes

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Bullet Bob Turley, a failure in victory and a success in defeat, today calmly faced the task of keeping the New York Yankees alive in the World Series.

Selection of the chubby-cheeked fireball pitcher to toe the mound when the Series resumes at Yankee Stadium Wednesday—with the upset - minded Milwaukee Braves on the head end of a three-to-two game lead—came as a major surprise.

But, according to manager Casey Stengel, it's merely a matter of control.

Turley didn't have it Saturday when he lasted only one and two-thirds innings in a game won in relief by Don (Perfect Game) Larsen. But he had it in spades Monday when he set down three men in a row in winding up Whitey Ford's 1-0 loss to Lew Burdette.

Walks Were Distressing

In the game he started, the six-foot, two-inch Turley saw a parade of 12 hungry Braves before Larsen took over. In that time, the 220-pounder from Troy, Ill., gave up three hits, one run and—most distressing of all to the Yankees—four walks.

"I just couldn't get it over the plate," Turley said in his soft, quiet voice. "That's all there was to it."

As for starting in the "must" in part, may explain his unconcerned approach to the now-or-never game Wednesday. Nor does it bother him that he is pitching with short rest.

"That's what I'm getting paid for, to pitch," he asserted. "Maybe it's a more important game, at the moment, but they're all important whether you are starting or relieving. Sure, this is the game we have to win to keep the Series going but I try to win every game. I never want to lose any."

If he can win this next one, and get the Yankees even, they will feel that their faith in him is well repaid. He has lost two Series games and Larsen took him off the hook in another last week. Not a very impressive record. But if he has the sharpness he showed in a losing cause, the Yankees fine fashion.

Monessen-Brownie Tilt Is Postponed

MICHIGAN STATE CLOBBERS CALIFORNIA — Michigan State's Williams (88) goes off like a rocket to snag a pass from quarterback Ninowski which was good for 18 yards in the later stages of the first half against California. Michigan State went on to score a decisive victory over the Golden Bears by a score of 19-0.

Midget League Games 'Off' Second Week

President Allen Kline reluctantly postponed the local Midget Football League games originally carded for tonight.

Kline, a victim of the flu bug himself, stated that the games would be played at the end of the season if necessary to decide a title. Last week's games are also on the postponed slate.

"We wanted to play this week at all costs," Kline stated. "But after hearing reports from several coaches and learning of the poor condition of the stadium field we had no choice."

Tonight's schedule had called for Frank-Lin to battle Jefferson and Vocational to take on the Lincoln eleven.

Season Halfway Mark

The teams are half-way through the season with Jefferson showing an unbeaten slate followed by Lincoln with a 2-1-0 card.

Next Tuesday the regular October 15 card will be played with Jefferson opposing Lincoln and Vocational battling Frank-Lin.

Due to the many postponements the All-Stars vs League champion game of October 22 will probably not be played on that date but the decision on this will come later.

MIDGET LEAGUE
First Half Standings

Jefferson	3	0	0	1 000
Lincoln	2	1	0	.667
Frank-Lin	1	2	0	.333
Vocational	0	3	0	.000

Schedule — October 15

Jefferson vs Lincoln — 7:15 o'clock; Vocational vs Frank-Lin in second game.

'Have-nots' Chicago - Toronto Open NHL Season

By UNITED PRESS

The Chicago Blac Haws and the Toronto Maple Leafs—the two "have nots" in the National Hocey League last season—have the honor of opening the 1957-58 campaign tonight at Chicago.

Both teams missed last spring's Stanley Cup playoffs, the Maple Leafs finishing fifth and the Blac Hawks last in the six-team league.

The Canadiens, defending Stanley Cup champions, don't swing into action until Thursday night when they entertain the Black Hawks. That same night the Red Wings play host to the New York Rangers.

The Boston Bruins must mark time until Saturday night when they open their 70-game schedule against Blac Hawks at Boston. Other Saturday night games will find the Rangers at Montreal and the Red Wings at Toronto.

Satterfield To Fight Sawyer

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Promoter Ben Anolik announced today he has signed heavyweight Bob Satterfield for a 10-round bout here Oct. 21 with Garvin Sawyer, a protege of Jersey Joe Walcott.

The bout will be held at the Enright Theater, Anolik said.

Satterfield, one of boxing's most explosive punchers, holds victories over many of the top - ranked heavyweights, including a one-round knockout of Pittsburgh's Bob Baker.

Sawyer, 21, has a 13-3 record and is managed by Tom Tannas of Arnold. Walcott has been training Sawyer at Pleasantville, N.Y., and will handle him in the Satterfield bout.

AHL Head Named

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UP)—Richard F. Canning of Providence, R.I., has been named president of the American Hockey League, succeeding John Chick of Windsor, Ont., who retired last June. Canning had been serving as vice president of the league.

Lep-N. Huntingdon Game Postponed

The flu epidemic (it's now been fairly well established as the flu) continues to play havoc with district grid cards.

This morning Rostraver High School officials announced that Thursday's game with North Huntingdon had been postponed at the request of North Huntingdon officials, who reported the epidemic had hit that school district.

Officials have postponed the game indefinitely as was the Rostraver-Glassport game last week.

Jimmy Slade in Upset over Luedee

NEW YORK (UP) — Veteran Jimmy Slade, campaigning on the comeback trail for a shot at the light heavyweight title, agreed today to a return TV fight with Jerry Luedee, over whom he won an upset split decision at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night.

Promoter Teddy Brenner said he would stage the return 10-rounder at St. Nick's Nov. 25.

Thirty-on-year-old Slade, New York, a 4-1 underdog because he hadn't fought in 14 months, got off the canvas in the third round and came on to win a split verdict over Luedee, 25, of New Haven, Conn.

Scaling 173½ pounds to Luedee's 169½, agile Jimmy out - speeded his harder punching opponent, peppered him with left jabs and beled him with left hooks during their close 10 rounds.

Deer Hunting Allowed In 12 of State Parks

Certain areas in selected Pennsylvania State Parks will be open for hunting during the 1957 bow-and arrow deer season, as well as later seasons in which sportsmen will use guns to take wild game.

Announcing the decision to again permit such hunting Governor George M. Leader, said, "In the interest of providing more opportunities to our sportsmen for hunting, as well as proper management of game resources, it has been determined that controlled hunting in many of our forest areas is available."

Signs clearly indicating "no hunting" areas in the selected State Parks will be conspicuously posted. These will be erected at regular intervals around all restricted areas, providing protection for non-hunters using State Park facilities during hunting season.

The Governor cautioned that "strict law enforcement of all park regulations will be observed. Violators of laws governing use of State Parks are subject to a maximum fine of $100 for each offense or thirty (30) days imprisonment, or both."

The names and locations of the larger State Parks, in which hunting is permitted, are: Chapman, Warren County; Big Pocono, Monroe County; Cook Forest, Clarion, Forest and Jefferson Counties; Raccoon Creek, Beaver County; Laurel Hill, Somerset County; Blue Knob, Bedford County; Shawnee, Bedford County, Ricketts Glen, Luzerne and Sullivan Counties; Tobyhanna, Monroe and Wayne Counties; Crooked Creek, Armstrong County; French Creek, Berks and Chester Counties; and Hickory Run, Carbon County.

Requests for hunting area maps should be addressed to local District Foresters, Park Superintendents, Rangers or the Harrisburg Office of the Department of Forests and Waters.

Maurice K. Goddard, Secretary of Forests and Waters cautioned all hunters desiring to use open park areas this season to acquaint themselves with park regulations as well as applicable game laws. "Every precaution must be taken," Goddard emphasized, "to ensure the safety of fellow hunters and non-hunting visitors in the State Park. Identify your target, consider line of sight, always use safety locking devices on firearms, carry weapons with care and always unload when not actually hunting."

Pets Predators—

As summer drew to a close Game Protector Frederick Weigelt observed, "Now wildlife must face domesticated adversaries in the form of unwanted pets. One day last month, I counted 14 house cats on a two mile stretch of road bordering State Game Lands No. 159, in Wayne County. This is a forested section. These cats didn't come from any farm, and they won't do small wildlife any good."

LA Approves New Stadium Site For Brooklyn Nine

LOS ANGELES (UP)—The City Council today awaited word from Brooklyn Dodger President Walter O'Malley on his plans to move the ball club to Los Angeles following passage of an ordinance which officially offers them a site for a stadium.

O'Malley said Monday night in New York that he would not have any comment on the council action until this afternoon. He learned of the council approval after arriving in New York from Milwaukee where he attended the World Series game.

The ordinance was approved Monday after a dramatic day-long debate in council chambers. If accepted it would provide the Brooklyn club with 300 acres of land in Chavez Ravine for a 50,000 - seat stadium which O'Malley said the club would build if it decided to move west.

O'Malley's decision on whether or not to accept the Los Angeles offer must come before Oct. 15. The deadline was set by the National League last Tuesday after the Brooklyn president had requested a two-week extension on a previous deadline of Sept. 30.

Three Panthers On Injury List

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pitt Panthers stepped up drills today for their Stadium encounter with the Nebraska Cornhuskers after a light workout Monday.

Three players missed the practice at Ellsworth Field because of injuries. Quarterback Bill Kaliden has a bruised side and right halfback Jim Theodore an injured leg. Halfback Pete Prince remained in Mercy Hospital for observation because of headaches.

Kaliden was expected to be ready for Saturday's Cornhusker game but the other two players were listed as doubtful starters. Fullback Dick Bowen, hampered with an ankle injury, also was expected to be back in action.

Coach Johnny Michelosen Monday studied scouting reports of Nebraska's 14-7 victory over Kansas State. Pitt was expected to be a heavy favorite over the Cornhuskers who had been routed by Army and Washington State.

Freeport, Vulcans Win in Construction

It was Freeport and the Vulcans over the Dandos and Sharons in Construction League Bowling last night.

F. Stancato had a 175 and a 398 to pace scorers with C. Bolias, Mataly and H. Palm close behind.

Standings — Freeport 11-4, Vulcans 9-6, Dandos 7-8, Sharons 2-13.

Squad Enlarged

NEW YORK (UP)—The College All-Star squad that will meet the New York Knickerbockers in a benefit basketball game at Madison Square Garden Oct. 19 was completed today with the addition of Brendan McCann of St. Bonaventure and Bob McCoy of Grambling (La.) College.

Game Rescheduled For Monday Night At BHS Request

BULLETIN

Monessen High School Athletic Director Everett Pancook announced late this morning that the Monessen-Brownsville game would be played Monday night (October 14). Attempts were being made to move the Redstone game set for Friday, October 18 to Saturday, October 19, he added.

Monessen school officials announced this morning that the flu scare has affected the local sports scene in reverse this week.

Whereas the games were called off last week due to the flu making its rounds here, this week the "bug" has stopped the Greyhound opponents.

Already the Jayvee game with Clairton has been cancelled (it was set for last night.)

Now, tomorrow night's Monessen-Monongahela Junior High game is off, in fact cancelled.

This morning word comes out of Brownsville that Brownie officials have requested postponement of Friday's Big Five Conference game with the Greyhound eleven.

Local Officials Agree

Local officials have agreed to postpone the tilt but hope to play it Monday as Brownsville officials have suggested. This will mark the second week in succession that the 'Hounds have "sat it out."

Brownsville is in the same boat, having a conference clash with Charleroi postponed last week until the end of the season.

MHS Athlete Director Everett Pancook stated this morning, that "I don't know what we'll do if we can't get this Brownsville game in for it'll certainly create problems, both as to tickets and scheduling."

The scheduling difficulties will arise for next season when it comes time to decide how to make up for losing the home game for the host team and the guarantee for the visitors.

Problems or no problems the games originaly scheduled for this week have been postponed. An announcement is expected soon on whether the Monessen-Brownie game will be played Monday.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Bend Your Knees, But . . .

Many golfers who are off their game tend to crouch more at the address position, thinking that by doing so they will get "in" to the ball better. Well, that's not so. A crouch, such as today's player is using, will probably cause a top.

If your address position is correct, your arms will hang slightly away from your body. And don't lock your knees or elbows.

Today's player's knees are bent too far, and his trunk has bent too much from the waist up. Let's not make this mistake. Sure, the knees should be bent, but don't overdo it.

Injured Steelers Prep for Cards

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers, hampered by several injuries, opened practice today for their game with the Chicago Cardinals Sunday at Forbes Field.

Coach Buddy Parker, recovering from a flu attack, may not be on hand for the drills. Parker was expecfed to assign former head Coach Walt Kiesling to take charge of the session.

Halfback Dick Young, who suffered a leg injury against Cleveland, was listed as a doubtful starter for the Card game. Fullback Bill Bowman, nursing an injured shoulder, also may be out of action.

Rookie guard Bill Michael will be out for at least six weeks with a fractured knee. He was another casualty of the Brown game.

Gets Big Impost

NEW YORK (UP)—Neji, one of the nation's leading steeplechase horses, has been assigned a staggering 170-pound impost for the $50,000-added Temple Gwathmey 'chase at Belmont Park, Oct 16. In a tune-up for that event, Neji will carry 168 pounds today in the Grand National at Belmont.

Braves Now 2-1 Choice to Win As Series Moves to New York

By LEO H. PETERSEN

NEW YORK (UP)—Those amazing Braves were established as 2-1 favorites over the New York Yankees today because everything is going their way to whip the "big city boys" and make Milwaukee the baseball capital of the world.

With Mickey Mantle still a huge question-mark and Casey Stengel in desperate pitching straits, the National League champions take the Series back to Yankee Stadium Wednesday riding a wave of enthusiasm that hasn't been matched in recent Series history.

Stengel's worst fears have materialized with Bill Skowron almost certainly out of the Series and Mantle probably due only for spot duty. This is what Stengel worried might happen in his pre-Series analyses because without those two sluggers, it doesn't seem possible he can match the Braves' hitters.

In addition, Braves manager Fred Haney has three star pitchers ready for the final two games —18-game winner Bob Buhl and "Yankee killer" Lew Burdette for starts with 21-game winner Warren Spahn also available. In fact, there were some experts thought that Haney might go with Gene Conley, the six-foot, eight-inch sidearmer with the tricky motion, in Wednesday's sixth — and possibly final—game.

Stengel's Back To Wall

Stengel, backed to the wall strategically, has to play "scared baseball." He's announced he'll come back with fireballer Bob Turley in the sixth game but he knows he must use every available pitcher for relief—and that includes Whitey Ford.

So far, Ford is the only Yankee pitcher who really has looked good against the Braves, and he was beaten, 1-0, Monday when ex-Yankee farmhand Burdette outpitched him in a brilliant duel.

Burdette, whom the Yankees traded in the 1951 deal for Johnny Sain, came back to haunt his old bosses with a sparkling seven-hitter that topped his effort in the 4-2, second-game Milwaukee triumph. Lew didn't let a Yankee reach third base and closed brilliantly by striking out two batters in the ninth and getting Yogi Berra on a 15-foot pop fly for the final out after Gil McDougald singled to keep New York alive.

Ford appeared every bit as good as Burdette, especially in the early going, but the breaks went against him—as they so rarely do for the Yankees. The first, of course, was Eddie Mathews' infield hit — which second-baseman Jerry Coleman admitted he "misjudged." Then came a bloop single by Hank Aaron that sent Mathews to third and a clean sharp single to right field by Joe Adcock.

Strategy Controversial

It remained for the Yankees, especially Stengel, to come up with the most controversial strategy the Series has seen so far.

With one out, Coleman singled in the bottom of the eighth and the wheels started turning in Stengel's head. Moments later, Mantle appeared out of the Yankee dugout and it seemed certain that he was going to bat for Ford.

But the crowd of 45,811 was astonished when Mantle went in to run for Coleman and Elston Howard, who tied Sunday's game with a three-run ninth-inning homer, was the pinch-hitter for Ford. Howard was called out on strikes and then Mantle was out stealing when Hank Bauer missed Burdette's first pitch to him.

The only other anxious moment for Burdette, the controversial right hander who had a 17-9 record during the N.L. season, came when McDougald singled and brought up Berra with a chance to win it with a homer. But Yogi's effort was a feeble pop that Mathews squeezed to a pulp only a few feet from the plate.

The teams flew out of Milwaukee Monday night and probably will have light workouts today. No western National League team has won a world championship since the St. Louis Cardinals won in 1946—but a new dynasty appears to be growing in Milwaukee and it may be official by late Wednesday afternoon.

Yanks Favored Today; Braves for Series

NEW YORK (UP) — The Milwaukee Braves now are favored to win the World Series, even though the New York Yankees are favored to win Wednesday's sixth game at Yankee Stadium.

Broadway odds-makers revised their "line" after the Braves' victory Monday to make Milwaukee a 2-1 choice in "man to man" odds on the Series—the first time since the classic began that the Braves have been named on top.

But the Yankees are favored at 3-2 to win the sixth game.

'Big Hop' Confused Jerry Coleman

MILWAUKEE (UP) — The big hop confused Gerry Coleman and he took the blame today for the run which put the world champion New York Yankees in desperate straits against the challenging Milwaukee Braves.

Coleman referred to Eddie Mathews' hopping ground ball in the sixth inning of the fifth game of the 1957 World Series. Mathews scored the only run of the game two plays later.

"It was my boot," Coleman said. "I saw the ball all the way and misjudged it. It took a high hop at first, but it wasn't a hard ball to handle. I was about 15 feet out on the grass and I came in, but not far enough.

"I should have come one more step and I would have had him. I misjudged the runner's speed and then I took the ball against my chest instead of in front of me. The throw was on the line and accurate, but when I got the ball I might as well have eaten it."

Coleman drew no criticism from manager Casey Stengel, although Stengel said flatly that "that ball should have been out."

Army Unanimous Lambert Choice

NEW YORK (UP) — Army was an almost unanimous choice today in the first weekly poll for the Lambert Trophy with Navy, Pittsburgh, Princeton and Penn State completing the first five in that order.

Army, victor over Nebraska and Penn State in its first two games, averaged 8.8 points of a possible 10. Navy averaged 7.8 points.

The Lambert Trophy is emblematic of major Eastern college football supremacy.

Brittleness Hits Yanks' Mantle Again

NEW YORK (UP)—Once again the brittleness is proving to be the one great flaw in the otherwise "perfect" ball player — Mickey Mantle.

For no less than the third time in six World Series, the Yankees are playing with Mantle crippled. It's Casey Stengel's sad burden that his otherwise flawless star seems destined to encounter one injury after another.

What makes Stengel's problem more difficult is that it's not bad luck. It's simply that what most other players shake off as a minor ailment, can sideline Mantle for days at a time.

"I was afraid this was going to happen," he said Monday, when he was benched by Casey Stengel. "But I can't play if I can't swing —and that's all there is to it."

Mantle suffered the first of his Series injuries in 1951 when he fell over a drain outlet in Yankee Stadium. He went to bat only five times in that Series and he played only three games of the 1955 Series which went seven.

"I lost one the last time Mantle wasn't in there," Stengel has muttered throughout this Series. "I don't want that to happen again."

Stengel Says Aaron Has Us 'By The Ears'

NEW YORK (UP)—A frustrated Casey Stengel conceded that Hank Aaron "has got us by the ears," and the young Milwaukee slugger provided the necessary proof today with a .422 World Series average.

Yankee scouts who looked Aaron over during the final weeks of the regular season came back and reported the best possible way to deal with him was to keep the ball low.

"I know they're pitching me low," said the 23-year-old outfielder after contributing two hits in Milwaukee's 1-0 victory at County Stadium Monday. "But it doesn't bother me especially."

That's quite apparent from the way he has been treating Yankee pitchers during this Series. He leads the Braves not only in batting, but in runs driven in with five and in home runs with two.

"The Yankee pitchers are human," he explains. "They can be beaten. They have a good pitching staff but in my opinion, Brooklyn has a tougher staff. When those Dodgers throw fellows like Don Drysdale, Johnny Podres and Sandy Koufax at you, it can be a mighty miserable afternoon."

Oklahoma, Michigan State on Top Again; Army Climbs to 8th

NEW YORK (UP) — A formful week end kept Oklahoma and Michigan State in the 1-2 positions atop the United Press college football ratings today. Army was this week's only newcomer among the top 10 teams.

Army's leap from 12th to 8th place and Michigan's promotion from 8th to 5th represented the biggest advances of the week. Throughout the top 10 groups, there were only a few minor changes in the ratings.

Oklahoma, which resumed play after an extra week's layoff and crushed Iowa State, 40-14, for its 42nd consecutive victory, lost some of its lead over Michigan State once again. The Sooners' first-place margin was cut to 38 points from last week's 62.

Twenty-six of the outstanding coaches who comprise the United Press rating board picked Oklahoma No. 1 in the nation; five voted for Michigan State. Coach Bud Wilkinson's team attracted 327 out of a possible 350 points, compared to 291 for Michigan State.

Texas A&M moved up one notch to third, exchanging last week's ranking with Minnesota. After fifth-ranked Michigan came Oregon State, Duke, Army, Iowa and Auburn in that order. The Texas Aggies, Michigan, Duke and Iowa each received one first-place vote.

Navy, upset by North Carolina, dropped out of the top 10 group.

The two top games of next week end thus shaped up as second-ranked Michigan State vs fifth-ranked Michigan, and eighth-ranked Army vs Notre Dame, which moved up to a tie for the No. 11 rating this week.

Trailing Notre Dame and Rice in the second 10 group were Arkansas, North Carolina State, Georgia Tech and North Carolina, with Navy and Mississippi tied for 17th, Pittsburgh 19th and Texas Christian 20th.

Baylor, Wisconsin, UCLA, Penn State, Southern Methodist, Princeton and Miami (Fla.) were other teams that received votes this week.

UP College Grid Ratings

NEW YORK (UP)—The United Press college football ratings (with first-place votes and won-lost records in parentheses):

Team	Points
1. Oklahoma (26) (2-0)	327
2. Michigan State (5) (2-0)	291
3. Texas A&M (1) (3-0)	217
4. Minnesota (2-0)	180
5. Michigan (1) (2-0)	178
6. Oregon State (3-0)	155
7. Duke (1) (3-0)	110
8. Army (2-0)	98
9. Iowa (1) (2-0)	90
10. Auburn (2-0)	68

Second 10 teams—11 (tie), Notre Dame and Rice, 31 each; 13, Arkansas, 30; 14, North Carolina State, 27; 15, Georgia Tech, 18; 16, North Carolina, 13; 17 (tie), Navy and Mississippi, 12 each; 19, Pittsburgh, 9; 20, Texas Christian, 8.

Others—Baylor, 7; Wisconsin, 6; UCLA, 3; Penn State, Southern Methodist, Princeton and Miami (Fla.), 1 each.

Burdette Reports Two Anxious Times in Win

EDITORS NOTE: Lew Burdette scored his second world Series victory today and gave the Braves a three-game to two lead by beating the Yanks 1-0. In the following dispatch, he tells his impressions of the game.

By LEW BURDETTE
As Told To United Press

MILWAUKEE (UP) — Today's (Monday) win over the Yankees wasn't as much as a novelty as that first one, but don't go getting the idea I was bored.

Even when you shutout the Yanks, they generally manage to make life interesting for a pitcher. I had two real anxious moments against them today.

The first one was in the fourth inning when Wes Covington made that fine catch on Gil McDougald. And the second one came in the eighth when they had a man on and Elston Howard batted for Whitey Ford.

That Wes is my man. Remember that catch he made on Bobby Shantz to help me win the second game of the Series? The catch he made today was almost as good. When McDougald hit the ball I didn't think it was going that far. But when I saw Wes grab the ball and bounce off the fence I realized McDougald had belted the ball a lot farther than I imagined.

The big moment for me, though, was when I got Howard to strike out with a pitch on the outside corner. When he came up to hit for Ford, I had a vivid picture of that three-run homer he hit to tie up Sunday's game.

Del Crandall, tells me I was sharper today than I was when I beat the Yankees the first time and I go along with him. You can't afford to let up at all when you're operating on a one-run lead and don't forget we didn't get that run until the sixth inning.

For the most part, I threw sinkers, sliders and screwballs today, just as I did in the second game. I don't think I used more than six or eight curves all day.

If I was pinned down, I'd have to say my best pitch was the screwball. That's what I got Harry Simpson on when he hit into double plays in the second and fourth innings.

Now that we've got the Yankees three games to two, I don't see any reason why we shouldn't be able to take them when we get to New York.

And if they need me to pitch another game, I'm ready. All they have to do is holler.

Tate Re-elected AMA President

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Fred Tate, of Erie, was re-elected president of the Allegheny Mountain Assn., AAU Monday night at the 40th annual dinner meeting of the group.

Tom Bowler was elected first vice president; Tom Coleman, second vice president; Ted Abel, third vice president, Robert Templeton, fourth vice president, and W. Frank Spaeder, Erie, fifth vice president.

Nick Barrack of the Ohio AMA was the principal speaker. He told of the drive underway to collect funds for the erection of a national AAU building in New York.

There are about three million amateur movie-makers in the United States.

Girl Scouts in Reorganization Meeting Here

The Senior Girl Scout Troop of Fayette City, under the leadership of Mrs. Ralph Gill, met for its reorganization recently in the scout rooms of the Legion Home.

A scheduled program was made for the fall months and officers for the year were elected. Mary Ann Hamer was named president, Marcia Coates, vice president, and Colleen Auther, secretary-treasurer.

Girls of the community, 14 years of age and over, interested in joining the troop, are invited to attend one of the next two meetings of the scouts.

The first meeting being held tomorrow evening at the Hamer farm in Fayette City R. D. The members will meet at the Gill home at 4:45 and hike to the farm where they will enjoy a weiner roast.

The troop will meet each Wednesday evening in the club rooms except when outdoor activities are announced.

Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips, formerly of Fayette City, visited here over the week end. They returned to their home in Fairless Hills.

Canada and U. S. Wind Up Talks This Afternoon

WASHINGTON (UP)—American and Canadian cabinet officials today wind up talks aimed at easing economic-trade problems irritating relations between the two neighbors.

Delegations headed by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Canadian Finance Minister Donald Fleming scheduled an early morning meeting (9:30 a.m. e.d.t.) in hopes they could finish their talks with a joint communique by early afternoon.

The delegations met at the State Department Monday for more than five hours, and held a luncheon meeting as well. Officials said the first day's conferences were conducted in a "frank" atmosphere.

The United States, officials emphasized, is doing everything it can to ease the trade - economic problems bothering the Canadians. An extra effort is being made because of the rise to power in Canada of the Conservative government under Prime Minister John Diefenbaker.

Special Luncheon On Wednesdays

A chicken and biscuit luncheon is being served in the educational building of the Fayette City Presbyterian Church on Wednesday at noon.

A special price has been set for benefit of the school children. Reservations for both adult and children meals should be made with Mrs. Anne Grummer.

Card Party Is Advanced Here To Next Monday

The card party being sponsored by group one of the ways and means committee of the Fayette City Woman's Club, originally scheduled for Tuesday evening, Oct. 15 has been advanced to the previous evening, Monday, Oct. 14.

The change was made necessary in order to allow patrons the opportunity of attending the Festival of Bands in Bellmar High School stadium.

Mrs. Willard Auther, chairmen of the group, today named her committees. The lunch committee being; Mrs. Joseph Butler, Mrs. Read Brightwell, Mrs. D. Earl Daniel, Mrs. Stephen Figel and Mrs. Elsie Gaffney; prizes, Mrs. Raymond Barker; cards, Mrs. Joseph Ciavarra, Mrs. Charles Yusko and Mrs. Louis Alberta.

Food Registration Here Tomorrow

There will be re-registration for surplus food tomorrow between 1 and 2 p.m. in Arnold City, Fairhope and Belle Vernon.

Those registering in Arnold City may do so at the Macedonial Holiness Church, in Belle Vernon at the borough building and in Fairhope at the fire hall. Those receiving public assistance must present their surplus food certificates.

Girl Scout Group To Meet Tonight

The Neighborhood committee of the Fayette City Girl Scouts will meet this evening in the scout rooms of the American Legion Home.

The president, Mrs. George Moody, has asked that all persons interested in the scouting program, including mothers of the girls, to make a special effort to attend. The meeting is called for 7:30 p.m.

Guest Night At Methodist Church Thursday

Invitations have been extended to all women of the Fayette City Methodist Church for the Guest Night of the Woman's Society of Christian Service Thursday evening in the church social rooms.

The worship program will be in charge of Mrs. Read Brightwell, the theme of the evening, "Our Home Mission Centers and Race."

Mrs. Brightwell has secured Mrs. George Hayden, Beechwood, as guest speaker. Mrs. Hayden is active in the Pittsburgh Conference.

Only a brief business meeting is being planned. A social hour following the meeting will have as its hostesses: Mrs. Irwin Abbott, Mrs. Richard Auther, Mrs. Willard Auther, Mrs. Fred Brightwell, Mrs. John L. Bake and Mrs. Lillie Roy.

To Pick Group For Overhauling Of Constitution

HARRISBURG (UP)—Ten additional persons will be picked by the presiding officers of the state Senate and House to serve on a special commission to study possible overhaul of Pennsylvania's 84-year-old Constitution.

Gov. George M. Leader took the first step in the study authorized by the 1957 Legislature when he announced appointments of five persons to the 15-member group over the weekend.

The governor said the Commonwealth can no longer "face the problems of the 20th Century with a blueprint drawn to meet 19th Century needs." A legislative appropriation of $50,000 was made for expenses of the Commission on Constitutional Revision.

The governor's appointees were: Dr. Jefferson B. Fordham, dean of the Law School of the University of Pennsylvania; Dr. Nelson McGeary, head of the Department of Political Science at Pennsylvania State University; Mrs. Robert L. McGeehan, Hazleton, legislative chairman of the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters; Genevieve Blatt, secretary of the State Internal Affairs Department, and Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia.

The other members of the commission are to be named by House Speaker W. Stuart Helm (R-Armstrong) and Senate President Pro Tempore M. Harvey Taylor (R-Dauphin).

Patrol Leaders Are Chosen by Brownie Troop

Belle Vernon Brownie Troop 26 met on Saturday afternoon in the Girl Scout Little House with the leaders, Mrs. Olga Miller and Mrs. Elmira Luce in charge.

The meeting began with the flag ceremony. Flag bearers were Janelle Williams and Tara Bickerton for the American and Brownie flags. Color guards were Pamela Peterson and Patty Costella. The remainder of the group formed a horseshoe and gave the pledge of allegiance. They sang "America" and the Brownie Smile song and gave the Brownie Promise.

The girls were then divided into three patrols. Each of the patrols is headed by two of the older Brownies. Election of officers was held. Pamela Peterson was elected leader of Patrol 1 with Susan Jo Barger, co-leader; Patrol 2, Toni Kyle, leader and Marlene Randall, co-leader; Patrol 3, Wilma Jean Venneri, leader and Kathy Cramer, co-leader.

Joanne Riskey was elected newsie.

The girls played games and sang songs under the direction of Rosemarie Galiotto, who will serve as program aid for the year.

Attend Program Held on Sunday

Mrs. Maude McCauley, grand regent of Belle Vernon Court Catholic Daughters of America, was in Charleroi to attend a Day of Recollection held by the Charleroi Court on Sunday.

There was an afternoon program followed by a banquet and an evening Holy Hour and benediction.

Representatives of various other district courts were present and were introduced.

Among the other members of Belle Vernon Court present were Mrs. Cecilia Sadowski, Mrs. Margaret Fabian, Mrs. Betty Smerezniak, Mrs. Mary Toth, Mrs. Rose Laorasca, Mrs. Genevieve Conn, Mrs. Rose Dimasi and Mrs. Mary Salvino.

Young Adults Plan Supper

The Young Adult Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Church will meet on Wednesday evening at 6:30 in the church social rooms. A spaghetti supper will be served.

The program will be presented by the Rev. Vernon Bowers of the First Christian Church of Monessen. He will continue with the theme being studied by the group, "Religions of the World."

Miss Ruth Frost is the teacher of the class.

On the committee in charge of arranging the Wednesday evening session are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Riskey, chairmen, along with Mr. and Mrs. David Bosson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Phillios and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams.

Garry Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Hughes, Mulberry St., is a patient in Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh, undergoing observation.

Bellmar Tri-Hi-Y Chapter Officers Assume New Duties

New officers have assumed their duties in the Bellmar High School Tri-Hi-Y Chapter, and plans are underway for the activities of the 1957-58 school term.

Officers are Karen Vannucci, president; Luann Trozzo, vice president; Luann Trozzo, vice president; Patty Sack, secretary; Mary Ann Kuhn, treasurer; Kitty Urban, chaplain.

These girls attended a special training session at Grove City College for a few days during the summer months to prepare them for their service.

There are 35 girls in the club this year, and again Mrs. Hazel Hixenbaugh will serve as faculty sponsor.

The initiation dance has been planned for Friday evening of this week at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium of Bellmar High School. It will be for the girls and their friends.

On Oct. 22 there will be formal ceremonies for the initiation, and the girls will invite their mothers to be guests.

New members of the chapter are Linda Abbott, Paula Barger, Mary Ann Armstrong, Mary Lois Barger, Janice Braithwood, Virginia Daugherty, Jane Demko, Patty Ferrari, Charlotte Fryske, Mary Ann Hamer, Judy Hamer, Linda Huber, Elaine Manown, Bonnie Marsden, Pat Podsadowski, Judy Rizzutto, Mary Jo Shephard and Kay Trickett.

Band Festival Next Tuesday

The Belle Vernon Lions Club Band Festival, which was originally scheduled for this evening at Bellmar Stadium, will be staged next Tuesday evening.

The postponement was announced yesterday after the committee was notified that the participating bands may be unable to take part due to illness among the students.

Of the seven bands planning to take part in the exhibition, none could be at full strength.

The planned program will be presented next week.

Civic Club to Hear Teacher

Members of the Tuesday Evening Civic Club will honor the president at the annual president's reception next Tuesday evening, Oct. 15. It will be held in the club room of the American Legion Home.

Guest speaker will be Lucy Valero, of California State Teachers College faculty. She is widely-traveled and served two years ago as president of the Pennsylvania Education Association. Her topic will be "My Trip Around the World."

The social committee will be in charge of the social hour following the program.

Women's Benefit Plans for Meeting

The Belle Vernon review of the Women's benefit Association met on Friday evening with Mrs. Sara Quinn, president, in charge.

Routine business matters were discussed. Plans were announced for the meeting of the Valley Club, which is being held today in Roscoe. The local organization is represented at the session.

Ladies Guild To Hold Bake Sale Sunday

St. Sebastian Roman Catholic Church Ladies Guild will sponsor the monthly bake sale next Sunday after each mass in the school rooms. Mrs. Hilda Sefchok and Mrs. Loretta Senich are the general chairmen. Women whose last names begin with the letter N to Z will provide the baked goods.

The Guild "do-nut factory" will be in operation.

Tomorrow evening after Rosary devotions the November card party committee will meet with the chairmen, Mrs. Julia Kara and Mrs. Sue Touche in the school hall.

Tomorrow evening after Rosary devotions the November card party committee will meet with the chairmen, Mrs Julia Kara and Mrs. Sue Touche in the school hall.

Last night the October committee held in the school rooms attracted a large crowd. Mrs. Mary Guiliano and Mrs. Mary Ellen Trombino were chairmen. There were prizes and refreshments and pizza was sold.

Bellmarette Board To Meet Tomorrow

The Bellmarette Joint School Board will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Bellmar High School Library for the monthly business meeting.

The meeting which should have been held this evening was postponed since several of the directors are attending the Fayette County School Directors Convention now in session in Uniontown. It will close today.

Barry Miller, a student at Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller of Grant St

Brownie Troop Holds Ceremony Here Saturday

The Brownie ceremony was conducted on Saturday afternoon to open the activities of Belle Vernon Brownie Troop 25 in the Girl Scout Little House. Cristy Ringstad, Melanie Jones, Patty Anderchak and Ursula Paterline took part. They also conducted the closing ceremonies.

The girls joined in the Brownie Promise and pledge to the flag.

There were routine patrol session after which the time was spent in playing games. Indian taps were used in the closing rites.

Mrs. Sue Ringstad, leader of the troop, was in charge with Lucille Coursin as assistant and Linda Johnston as program aide.

The troop will meet again on Saturday at 2 p. m.

Trumpettes Meet At Doyle Home

Mrs. Iva Doyle was hostess to members of the Trumpettes at her home in Belle Vernon recently.

Two tables of five hundred were in play, and those winning high score prizes were Mrs. Mary Ann Bricker and Mrs. Rachael Price. Both were guests. Other awards were won by Mrs. Betty Williams and Mrs. Doyle.

Luncheon was served and plans were made for the next meeting to be held at the home of Mary Lou Brown at Stroall Acres.

"I've killed a child!"

"Never had an accident before. Never been in trouble with the law. Always tried to do right by my family and friends . . . they'll tell you. Now I've killed a child—just by taking a foolish chance."

Every day it happens, often just like that, to drivers who thought accidents happen only to the other fellow.

Remember this. No one expects to meet death on the road. Certainly no one expects to be guilty of causing it. Yet, last year 40,000 men, women and children died in traffic accidents.

Thousands of drivers—many who never had or expected to have an accident—found themselves guilty of killing someone on the highway. Most of these deaths can be prevented—with your cooperation.

BACK THE ATTACK ON TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Here's how you can help stop traffic tragedies:

1. Drive safely and courteously yourself. Observe speed limits and warning-signs. Where traffic laws are obeyed, deaths go DOWN!
2. Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws. Traffic regulations work for you, not against you. Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!

Many Changes in Japan During Last Five Years, Reporter Says

(The writer of the following dispatch, recently appointed chief correspondent and manager for Japan, tells of the changes in this remarkable country since his last tour of duty here five years ago, during the Korean War.)

By ARNOLD DIBBLE

TOKYO (UP) — The last traces of the old Japan have all but disappeared — at least so far as this, the largest city in the world, is concerned.

To this correspondent, who has just returned to Japan after a five-year absence, the most striking, if not the most profound, example of the changed status is almost complete conversion of the Tokyo Japanese to Western dress.

The pattern, of course, has been developing since the end of World War II. But even five years ago, the colorful kimonas were everywhere to be seen.

Today, you almost start when you see one. They are that rare.

One Busy Place

Make no mistake about it. Tokyo 1957 is one busy place. All over the city steel girders are a-rearing. Business construction, at least, bids fair to set a record. It reminds you of east midtown New York, where a man's favorite saloon overnight becomes a metal-sheathed skyscraper.

As a fellow newcomer said the other day: "This sure is a swell place, but when are they going to finish it?"

On the surface, Japan looks prosperous and happy. The streets of Tokyo have been swept clear of the chugging, choking, fuming old charcoal burning taxicabs. In their place are shining new small cars, more likely than not to be one of three makes manufactured in Japan, or perhaps a European model now being assembled here.

American-made cars are scarce. They're too big for the murderous Tokyo traffic. And they're too expensive for most Japanese.

Television towers dominate the city. There'll be a million sets in Japan soon, and business is so good even the test patterns are sponsored.

The quality of Japan's television, both in the dramatic and technical sense, is excellent. The other day this writer went through the headquarters of NHK, the government-owned network. New York studios of the major networks would be hard pressed to match this layout.

The newspaper business is just as up to date. Mainichi, a United Press client for nearly 40 years, uses planes, helicopters and radiophotos to speed its news. But just so the old days won't be forgotten: Outside our office window is a cote for carrier pigeons.

Beneath the surface lies an undercurrent of uneasiness.

Japan's trade balance is still shaky. And this island of artisans —artisans in both the light and the heavy industries—must trade or suffer economic strangulation.

Asians Still Suspicious

Which way is she to go? Toward the terrific potential of the Communist Chinese mainland, one of the traditional Japanese markets? Or toward the free world?

Prime Minister Kishi is making a terrific sales pitch to sell his Southeast Asia economic development plan. But the countries of Southeast Asia are suspicious. To many a Southeast Asian, this sounds like a new name for the "co-prosperity sphere" of pre-World War II.

But this is it—the showdown. If the Kishi plan fails, don't be surprised to see Japan playing ball, economically at least, with the Reds.

The damage to the free world would be great, indeed.

Third Man Theme

HAMMOND, Ind. (UP) — A thief told a clerk "the other ma will sign for these" and walked out of a jewelry store here Monday with $10,000 worth of rings.

SALLY'S SALLIES

"Why not wait, Madam, for those new "baggy" styles from Paris?"

Queen's Aide

WASHINGTON (UP) — Lt. Gen. Lemuel Mathewson is expected to serve as Queen Elizabeth's military aide during her United States visit. Mathewson, 58, was commanding general of the 9th Corps in Europe from March, 1956, until last month. He was appointed commanding general of the 6th Army at San Francisco Oct. 1.

Scientist Calls All-out Program to Beat Soviet

WASHINGTON (UP)— A leading U.S. scientist called today for an all-out program to beat Russia to the moon and planets.

He told the United Press the program he envisions would cost billions but "the issue is supremacy."

The scientist, who asked that his name be withheld because of his official capacity, said the Russians are driving toward manned flight to the moon and planets and "we had better be there when they arrive."

He suggested setting up a government agency with wide powers similar to the Manhattan District that perfected the atomic bomb in World War II.

He said the Russians have a tremendous head start in the race into space. He said the launching of their artificial moon was truly impressive for the fact they did it on the first try..."they made it look easy."

But he is confident this country can close the gap "if we are willing to make the effort."

The Russians now are talking of firing a rocket, carrying a crew of experimental animals, to the moon in the next year or so.

The scientist refused to discount wholly anything the Russians are claiming. But he suggested five years might be nearer the mark.

The United States could do that —if it got started right away and committed enough brains and money to the job, he said.

Flying to Moon Matter of Time, Scientist Says

WASHINGTON (UP)—A top scientist in the U.S. satellite program said today flying to the moon is only a matter of "men, money and time."

"It's perfectly possible to do it," he said. "It all depends on what you want to put into it.

"If the United States had decided like Germany that making an A-bomb wasn't a sound idea there wouldn't have been any American A-bomb."

The scientist — John W. Townsend, chief of the satellite program's Sonde Rocket Branch — said the Russians by launching their satellite already have taken a big step toward the moon and apparently plan to push on vigorously.

Townsend said the Soviet satellite now appears to be considerably more complicated than U.S. scientists originally believed and some Russians said. A. A. Blagonravov, reputedly a top scientist in the Soviet satellite program, said it contained only batteries and a radio transmitter.

"Blagonravov was modest," Townsend said. "We are dealing with a scientific satellite that is radioing back coded information.

County Woman Seeking Return Of Many Gifts

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A 31-year-old Greensburg woman today asked the state Supreme Court to reverse a lower court decision ordering her to return more than $15,000 gifts to her former 80-year-old boy friend.

Mrs. Sara Jane Mills filed a petition against the order handed down last July by Allegheny County Common Pleas Court Judge Thomas M. Marshall.

The lower court ordered Mrs. Mills to return $10,800 to George Pavlicic, 80, and $4,900 mortgage he paid on her home.

Pavlicic claimed that he had paid the mortgage on her home, loaned her $900 for repairs, gave her $2,200 for a new car, a $140 watch and an $800 engagement-wedding ring. He said he also gave her $1,700 for another automobile and loaned her $5000 for a tavern in Greensburg which they were to operate together.

But he said his former girl married Edward Dale Mills, of Greensburg, in July, 1954.

Pavlici's only consolation was the return of $450 he had given her for the house.

Board Chairman Of Air Brake Resigns Post

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Edward O Boshell announced today his resignation as board chairman of Westinghouse Air Brake Co. to open his own office in New York as a management consultant.

Known as "Mr. Liquidation" in financial circles, Boshell joined Westinghouse Air Brake in 1951 and its subsidiary Union Switch & Signal, as board chairman and president. Before coming to Westinghouse, he had been chairman of the Standard Gas and Electric Co.

Boshell, an attorney, directed Westinghouse's development into such new fields as electronics and pneumatic tools. He relinquished his office as president last year to A. King McCord but remained as chairman.

Boshell plans to specialize in utilities in his consultant duties. He won his nickname after his success in negotiating affairs of several interlocked companies under legal orders to liquidate.

Hungarian Group Plans Banquet For October 24

The Ladies Hungarian Auxiliary of Pricedale met Thursday in Hungarian Hall with Eileen Huber, president, leading the members in the pledge of allegiance and the Lord's Prayer.

Following a report on September card parties by Dorothy Nagy, plans were made for a banquet to be held at Park Casino at 7:30 p. m. on Oct. 24. Cards are being sent to each member requesting that reservations be made no later than Oct. 17. Those interested are to contact Mary Nagy at Belle Vernon 1759-J, or Naomi Sedok at Belle Vernon 1267-R.

The group now is selling black pepper, dampening bags, ironing board covers, flavoring and holders for dress hangers. They can be purchased from any member.

The door prize was won by Julia Conner and special prizes went to Theresa Belsick and Naomi Sedok. The birthdays of Marge Summers, Hazel Smith and Eileen Huber were observed, each receiving a cake and handkerchiefs. Lunch was served by Mary Jane Robertson, chairlady, assisted by Hazel Smith, Edith Thot, Mary Summers, Florence Miller and Mary Smerczniak.

Tomorrow night the group will hold a card party at the hall beginning at 8 o'clock.

Climbers Class Meet

The Climbers Class of Pricedale Sunday School will meet tonight at 7:30 in the recreation hall. Hostesses will be Erma Echart, Virginia Weaver, Betty Forsythe and Doris Linderman.

Irene Robson, Lenora Zucconi and Irene Meacci left by plane Sunday for a two-week vacation in Miami, Fla., and other points.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nolan and daughter, Sheryl, of Youngstown, O., visited over the week end with Mr. and Mrs. William Perney.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carson and family of Pricedale are on a lengthy tour of New Mexico and other points.

Paul Switzer New Pastor at Pricedale Church

Mr. Paul Switzer will assume the pulpit Sunday as the new pastor of Pricedale Union Church, succeeding the Rev. George Guest, who resigned last month because of ill health.

Mr. Switzer was elected pastor at a congregational meeting held last Sunday.

All members of the church 16 years and older were eligible to vote. His election was unanimous.

Clarence Bush and Charles Quinn conducted the election.

A native of Tyrone, Mr. Switzer, 33, has been living in Donora and was a former pastor at Ella Hollow Mission. He is married and the father of two sons. He plans to move to the Pricedale area in the near future.

A graduate of the Philadelphia School of the Bible, he is expected to be ordained as a full minister soon.

He will assume his new duties officially next Sunday.

Last Sunday's meeting was held following services opened by Charles Quinn, who led the congregation in singing "Wonderful". Mary Worrell offered prayer.

Webster Ladies Auxiliary Has Recent Meeting

The Ladies Auxiliary of Webster met Thursday at the fire hall with Vivian Blick, president, in charge.

Following the pledge of allegiance and prayer by Mary Bentley, chaplain, reports were read by Anna Belle Maglet, recording secretary; Gladys Bentley, financial secretary, and Lillian Wilson, treasurer.

Lunch was served by Gladts Bentley and Anna Belle Maglet and the former also won the pig-in-the-poke donated by Josephine Staff. Elizabeth Gilmer received a gift from her secret pal.

Member Vivian Blick will enter Passavant Hospital in Pittsburgh tomorrow as a patient.

Hostesses for the Oct. 12 meeting will be Lillian Wilson, and Kathyrn Bailey. The group will decide later on a halloween party.

Eisenhowers Give Check to Fund

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—President and Mrs. Eisenhower have given a personal check for $100 to the Gettysburg Community Chest-United Fund drive, it was disclosed today.

John A. Welshonce, executive secretary of the chest, made public a letter from Mrs. Mary Jane McCaffreee, the First Lady's secretary, forwarding the check with "best wishes for a most successful campaign."

The first law school in the United States was established by Tapping Reeve, a lawyer from Connecticut, in 1784.

NINE DIE IN GERMAN TRAIN WRECK — A railroad car rests on top of a locomotive in Stuttgart, West Germany, after a collision in which nine persons were killed and 30 others injured. The accident occurred in heavy fog as one train came in on a track on which the other was waiting to depart. The impact forced the coach up in the air.

World Needs Laws To Define 'Air Space'

BARCELONA, Spain (UP)—Andrew G. Haley, Washington, D.C., authority on space law, said today such manifestations of science as satellite flights showed that the peace of the world is threatened by lack of such laws.

Haley, who is attending the International Astronautical congress here, said he would ask the United States congress to appoint a committee to draft a definition of "air space."

He said the matter must be settled before nations begin to demand unlimited sovereignty over the space above their lands—with all that might imply in a world where satellite rockets and space ships can be expected overhead with increasing frequency.

Haly said his own feeling was that about 275,000 feet in altitude might be considered a possible "critical jurisdictional boundary" beyond which sovereignty should not extend. At this height, he said, an object in continous flight is travelling at 2,000 feet a second and aerodynamic lift from the atmosphere is gone.

The lawyer said he also felt the definitions were of particular importance because a British scientist advised him he believed the first commercial use of rocket vehicles would be for mail transportation between New York and London.

"This service and other services will gradually be extended to the four corners of the world—Melbourne to London, Moscow to Los Angeles, Buenos Aires to Chicago, Tokyo to New York," he said.

Scientists attending the current congress here noted that one of the top experts on the Soviet Union's rockets - to - the moon research establishment has not showed up although he was scheduled to read an important paper.

The scientist is Prof. V.A. Yegorov who had been scheduled to read a paper on "some problems relating to the dynamics of a flight to the moon." It was written on Sept. 25, about the time the Soviets were making their last preparations to launch their satellite.

Delegates assumed Yegorov's presence was needed in Moscow for the satellite launching though Russian delegates here said he was ill.

Set Trial Date For McKeesport Ex-Detective

WHEELING, W.Va. (UP) — A trial date for Emery Toth, 42, former McKeesport, Pa., detective, will be set next Monday, following his indictment by an Ohio County grand jury on a charge of tampering with an auto.

Toth was arrested at Oglebay Park here after allegedly attempting to pry open the door of a parked car. A park employe reported seeing Toth driving through the park, then stopping to open the door of a car.

Toth was fired from the McKeesport force last summer on suspicion of car thefts in the Tube City.

Police here said they found wire-like tools of the type used to "jimmy" locks in Toth's car. Toth said he was merely looking at the car in the park because he was thinking about buying a similar model for his wife.

Fatal Accident Suit Filed

Two suits to recover $10,000 on four counts for one person killed and other injured in an automobile accident, have been filed in the Washington County courts against George Illig, East Millsboro, Fayette County.

In the first suit brought by Joseph Zebker, administrator of the estate of Priscilla Ann Zebkar, deceased, in a complaint for wrongful death and survivor action, it is stated that Priscilla Ann Zebkar was a passenger on a motorcycle on August 9, 1957, which was operated by Robert D. Knestrick south on the Bull Run Road in Fayette County.

It is stated further that at about 11:45 p.m., when the Knestrick motorcycle was about four miles from Brownsville, it was struck by Illig's automobile. It is charged in the complaint that Illig crossed over the center line and was on his wrong side of the road, and also it is alleged that he was operating his automobile while under the influence of alcohol.

It is stated that Miss Zebkar was fatally injured and died the next day. She was a daughter of Joseph and Laura Zebkar, 405 Main St., West Brownsville.

The second suit was brought by Robert D. Knestrick, Marianna, driver of the motorcycle, by his father, Ray E. Knestrick to recover $5,000 on two counts, for alleged serious and permanent injuries.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear father, Andra (Andrew) Cash, who died eight years ago today, October 8, 1949.
Days and nights are lonely,
Years have gone so fast,
The memories that linger
Bring back all the past.
We miss your every visit,
We miss you walk the path
Where you had your garden,
We hear you when you laugh,
We hear your voice raised in singing
The songs you loved to sing,
We hear your voice in talking
The things we loved to hear,
You made our hearts much lighter,
The home we all came to,
You kept us all together,
Father, dearest, we miss you.
Sadly missed by Daughters and Sons

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, John Mermigas, who died 18 years ago today, October 8, 1939.
Today our hearts are heavy,
Our thoughts are all of thee,
Oh! How we miss you, father, dear,
No one but God can see.
Some say time heals an aching heart,
But, no, it isn't true,
For 18 long years have passed, dear father
And our hearts still ache for you.
Sadly missed by Wife, Sons and Daughter.

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, John Yartin, who died six years ago today, October 8, 1951.
He is gone but not forgotten
And as dawns another year
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of him are always near.
For loving memories never die
As years roll on, and days pass by,
And deep in our hearts a memory is kept
Of ones we loved and will never forget
Sadly missed by Mother, Sisters and Brothers

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs Sally Bednarczyk, who died three years ago today, October 8, 1954.
We miss the many things
You did to make us glad,
Your cheery smile, your twinkling eyes,
And the unique way you had
To make us feel like smiling
When we were feeling low,
And transposed gloom to happiness
And kept us all aglow.
No, we cannot forget you,
The memories are dear,
And we'll always think of you
As being very near
Sadly missed by Husband, Sons, Daughters & Grandchildren.

'Merit' Pay Raises For Army Personnel

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Defense Department said today it will start giving "merit" pay raises to some enlisted personnel early next year.

Secretary Charles E. Wilson had indicated they would be paid earlier when he disclosed last May 8 that the armed services would adopt a proficiency advancement system.

Youth's Last Birthday To Be Memorable One

MIDDLEBORO, Mass. (UP)—A bright-eyed little boy whose simple appeal touched the hearts of thousands of Americans today plays host at what doctors expect will be his last birthday party.

It is the ninth birthday anniversary for the lad whom doctors and nurses at Lakeville sanitarium know as "little boy blue" and "Francis X." And it will be marked by a spectacular birthday party, unlike that ever experienced by most youngsters.

It also most likely will be the last birthday party that Francis ever has. For he is suffering from Muscular Dystrophy, a fatal disease. And doctors say it will probably claim his life before another birthday anniversary arrives.

But today, the bright-eyed lad was all aglow. He has invited his doctors and nurses and the more than 75 other child patients to the party in his room. There, they'll see a closed-circuit telecast from Hollywood, featuring some of the entertainment world's highest-priced talent.

The show, hastily - arranged yesterday by comedian Jerry Lewis, will be piped in specifically for Francis X. With such stars as Lewis, Eddie Cantor, Hugh O'Brian, George Gobel and Tennessee Ernie Ford, it shapes up as a worthy rival of any spectacular ever produced on commercial television.

The television show, which would cost about $300,000 to produce commercially, is the climax lad had endured an agonizing bed, he had received no visitors, loneliness. Confined to a hospital no mail. His mother was dead, his father in jail for her murder, which Francis had witnessed.

With his birthday anniversary approaching, he expressed a desire through a hospital official to receive "just five or six cards for my birthday."

His appeal was carried throughout the land by press and radio.

It quickly touched the hearts of hundreds of Americans.

Senator Wiley Says Many 'Ifs' To World War

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) said today European leaders told him there will be no third world war—but attached a number of "ifs."

Wiley, senior Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, reported on a three-week trip to France, Spain and Britain and talks with members of the Interparliamentary Union Conference in London.

He said he was told there will be no World War III.

—If the West stays alert to Soviet propaganda and subversion and keeps up its military strength.

—"If the people are willing to pay the bill" to keep the West armed, and do not become complacent.

—If small "brush fire" wars started by the Communists can be kept from spreading.

Wiley also warned that "the French will take it very hard indeed if the United States does not support them in Algeria. He said the United States stands to alienate France and disrupt NATO, or lose standing in the Arab world.

Steel Buyers Take Over the Driver's Seat

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP)—Steel Magazine today reported a "sideways" movement of the demand-production relationship in the steel industry.

"Buyers are in the driver's seat as far as service is concerned, but demand is not so soft that producers would think of cutting standard prices," the weekly metalworking publication said.

The magazine reported that scrap prices are being determined almost as much on broker offers turned down by consumers as by purchases.

This made the slump in scrap price the outstanding feature on the price front. In the week ended Oct. 2, the magazine's price composite on scrap dropped $4.60 a gross ton, marking the seventh consecutive week of price decline. The composite stands at $42.17 a gross ton, the lowest mark since July, 1955.

Finds New Way to Purify Niobium

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Westinghouse Electric Corp. announced day a new way to purify niobium the so-called "wonder meta bringing it a step closer to its pected use in rockets and missil

Dr. Clarence Zener, direc of Westinghouse research, s studies indicated niobium off excellent promise as a structu metal at temperatures above 1, degrees.

In the new purification meth niobium is refined at a tempe ture of nearly 4,400 degrees wh "caged" under a vacuum wh the pressure is just four-billion of the regular atmosphere.

Your Health—

Smoking Aggravates Some Ills

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

I'd like to add a little fuel to the fire which is raging about the advantages and disadvantages of smoking.

But I'm not going to talk about cancer. Instead, I'd like to discuss some other ailments in which excessive smoking apparently plays a part.

If you have asthma or suffer from hay fever year after year, I suggest that you give up smoking, at least for two months or so, to see whether it will ease or eliminate the symptoms. If it does, then you know what you will have to do.

Now I know it is not easy to stop smoking. Certainly it isn't easy for a doctor to convince some patients to end the habit.

But recent tests have proved that persons with frequent colds, chest pain, coughing, difficult breathing upon exertion and, of course asthma and hay fever, have been helped by stopping the smoking habit.

Chronic coughing, especially, has been alleviated in many instances simply by giving up smoking.

Had Chronic Cough

Two University of Virginia physicians carefully examined 25 patients with chronic cough and other respiratory disorders.

After an analysis, they reported that nonsmoking was the "sole cause of improvement" in the remaining 10. Or, to put it more positively, the majority of the patients improved simply because they stopped smoking.

Four of these patients showed improvement within one to five days. Average time for maximum improvement was five weeks. All of the patients gained weight, from five to 32 pounds, after they stopped smoking.

These persons had been fairly heavy smokers over a long period of time. They had smoked an average of 28 years and only three of them smoked less than a pack a day. Some smoked as many as 45 cigarettes each day.

I don't imagine it was easy for them to break the smoking habit. But they did.

Star-studded Cast For 'The Big Record'

Alfred Drake, top Broadway musical star, and actress Rhonda Fleming, who recently recorded a new album of old favorites, will join Hostess Patti Page and other celebrities on CBS' The Big Record, tomorrow from 8 to 9 p.m. on KDKA-TV.

Also appearing with Miss Page will be the Andrews Sisters, Julius La Rosa, Jack E. Leonard, Russ Hamilton and jazz pianist Erroll Garner.

By the time a baby is two years old, he will be able to form two-word sentences. From three to six, he'll be able to add some 500 words a year to his vocabulary.

The Camera Corner—

How to Take Good Pictures from Plane

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — You don't have to be a professional to make perfectly satisfactory photographs from an airliner.

So says Ken Young, chief photographer for American Airlines and 15-year veteran of aerial picture-taking. But there are a few tricks of the trade.

First, Young suggested that if you're going to make pictures of a flight, do it from start to finish. Get a shot on the ground, perhaps of your fellow passengers boarding. Take one of the stewardesses. At the other end, repeat the sequence.

Young recommended eye-level type cameras, as opposed to reflex types, for use aboard plane.

When ready to shoot, hold the camera as close to the window as possible. Don't touch the window and have your elbows and shoulders away from the seat and sill. Any such contacts will pick up engine vibrations and blur your shots.

Shoot Pictures Out

Young said the chances of picking up glare from the double window of the plane will be lessened if you shoot your pictures OUT, rather than DOWN. Avoid the sharper angles whenever possible.

As for shutter speeds, Young said 1-200th of a second is preferable, but even 1-50th will return clear shots from 20,000 feet.

He recommended using ultraviolet (haze) filter for color at high altitudes to screen the abundance of blue and ultraviolet light. Use a dark yellow filter for black and white for better ground detail.

Best shots are made in the morning or afternoon. As the plane climbs higher, the terrain flattens out and the noon sun, with its absence of shadows, won't offer as much interest as the earlier and late shots, Young said.

In normal sunlight, you can figure shots for the same exposures you use for beach scenes, or for distant views on the ground. But Young said when shooting a picture composed of a lot of sky and perhaps a bit of wing, treat your exposure as you would a bright sand or a snow scene.

Public Center

Camera fans in San Francisco are probably the luckiest in the world, for they will soon have a new public photography center maintained by the city for the use of all.

Construction of the center has been completed, and it is being equipped with $20,000 worth of new modern photography equipment. It is scheduled to open in October.

Maintained and staffed by the Recreation Department, the city will offer to amateur "shutterbugs" darkrooms, studios, enlargers, print washers and driers — everything a camera fan needs except the camera. Instructors will be on hand to give help and advise.

The only cost to the amateur photo enthusiast — professionals are excluded — will be an annual registration fee of $3 for students, $6 for others.

Climax Opens Season

The death of a man who had mistakenly stumbled into their motel bedroom leads Tom and Esther Gardner, a young California couple, to a meeting with the dead man's invalid widow, Audrey Caldwell, and insurance investor Paul Crichton, in "Mask for the Devil," starring Jan Sterling, Steve Forrest, Nita Talbot and Paul Stewart, on Climax! Thursday, 8:30 - 9:30 p.m. on KDKA-TV.

World of TV—

Should Not Hear Music On Shows

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—Paul Taubman, a TV musician who toils in the happy bonds of obscurity, is one of the most frequently played composers in this nation. But nobody ever hears his music.

At least Taubman hopes nobody does.

Taubman has written such musical snappers as "The Kiss-off," "Time to Consider" and "Entrance of the Contestants." Along with dozens of others of his musical masterworks, they are smuggled into your ear tubes via NBC-TV several hundred times each week.

Taubman is musical director of "Twenty One," the five-a-week "Bride and Groom" and the six-a-week "Tic Tac Dough." It's his job to turn out the themes and musical cues used on each show.

"I guess the greatest compliment I ever received came from a friend who said he didn't even know there was any music on 'Twenty One,'" said Taubman. "Why? Well, because music on TV shouldn't be noticed. If it is, it just distracts the viewer. In a way—my job is a real paradox—I don't want anything I compose or play ever to be heard consciously by anyone."

Was Soaps Organist

Taubman, a product of Winnepeg, Canada, and the Juilliard School of Music, is a musical campaigner of long service. He was organist on such soaps as "Lorenzo Jones" and "When A Girl Marries" and musical director of such TV shows as the "Bob and Ray" shows, "On Your Account" and the late "High-Low."

"Most people don't even realize they're hearing about 20 different musical pieces on 'Twenty One' or 30 to 35 music cues on the daytime 'Tic Tac Dough.' Each piece underscores the action without being obtrusive," said Taubman.

"For the part on 'Tic Tac Dough' where the machine changes categories, we play music that suggests a machine going round and round. When the contestants are thinking, we play my 'Time to Consider.' Some of these pieces only last a few seconds, but may take a week to write.

Has Triumphant Sound

"On 'Twenty One,' when somebody wins we play 'Money Music'—it has a triumphant sound. We have music for ties and music for the loser when he walks off stage—It's called 'The Kiss-off' and puts a little pep into what otherwise is a pretty unhappy occasion."

Taubman's "Twenty One" orchestra is made up of 14 players, many of them refugees from the NBC symphony which played under Arturo Toscanini. "We have no strings except for a harp—It's used for flourishes and to denote the passage of time," explained Taubman.

"The brass is used for announcements such as the entrance of contestants. Woodwinds are for reflection. And of course, there's percussion — that's used for suspense — tympani can give a throb to a quiz show that a whole symphony couldn't contribute."

Native Is Honored

Frank T. Bumbaugh, former Monessen man, has been elected president of the Kingsley Association, a Pittsburgh welfare organization. Bumbaugh is an executive of the U. S. Steel Corp.
